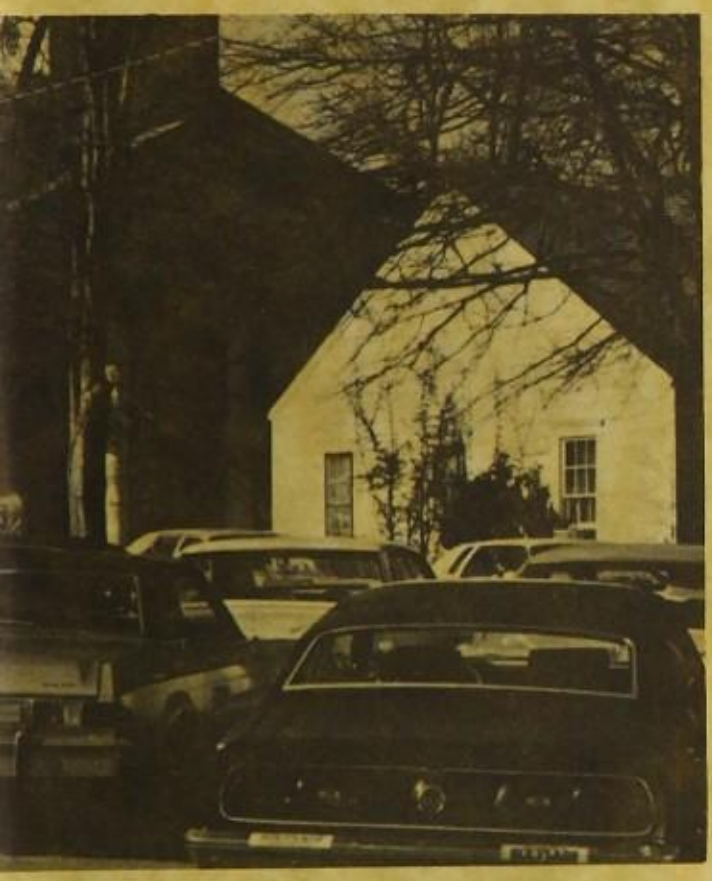
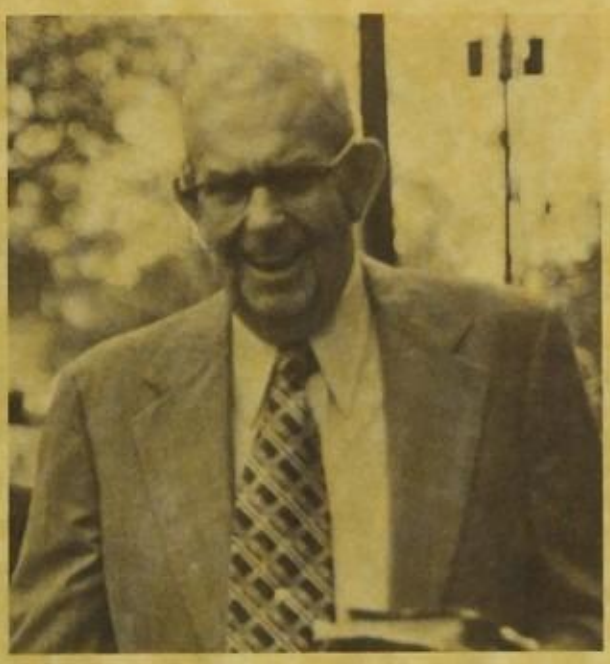
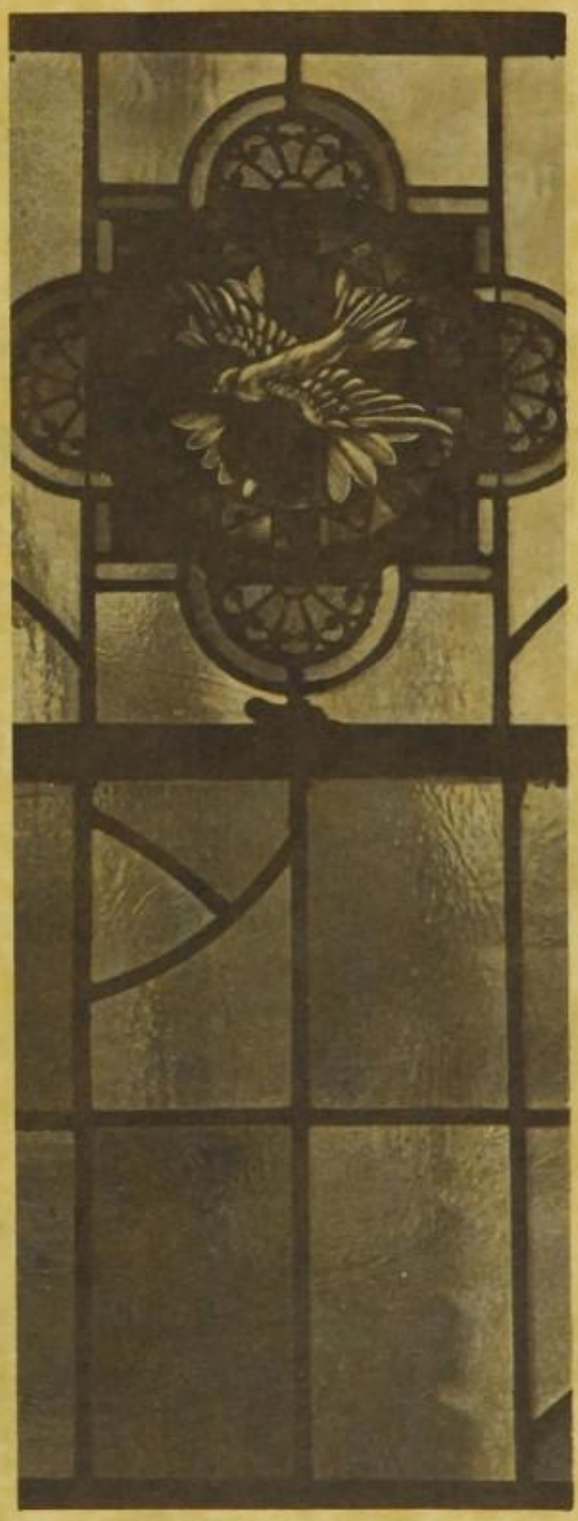
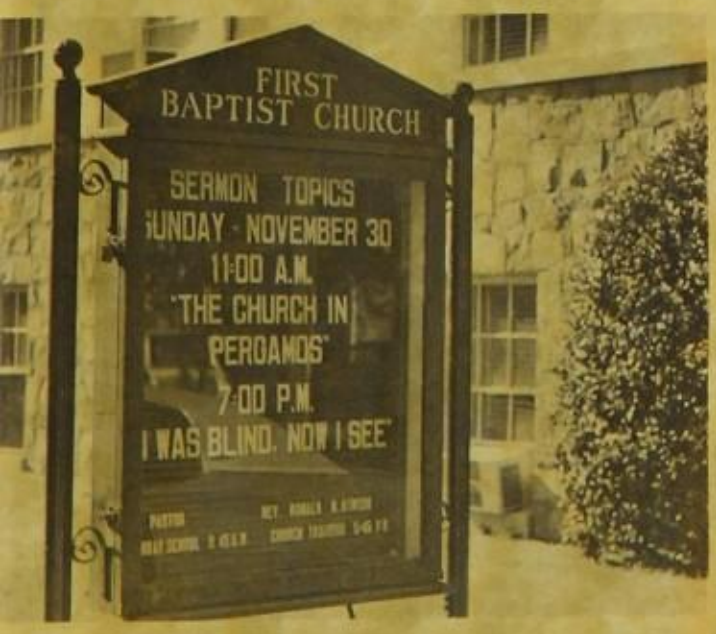
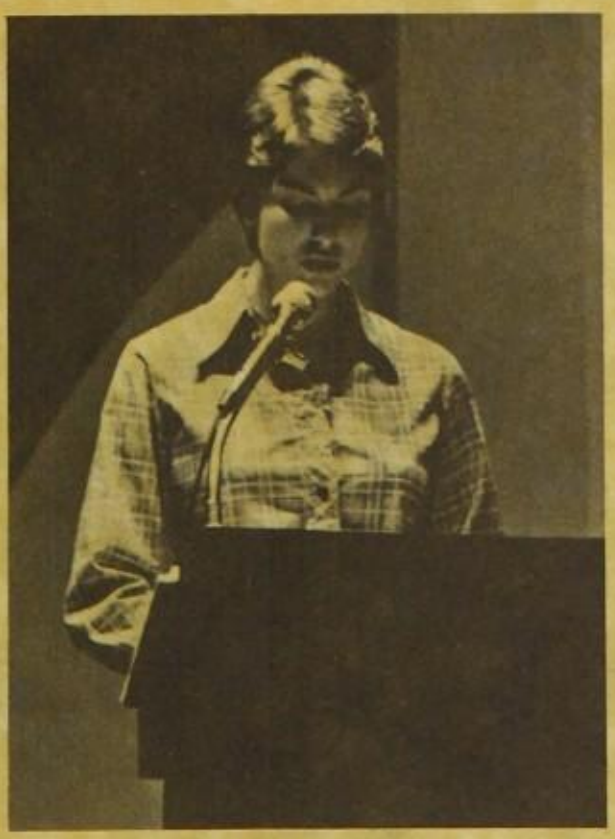
Hapeville is the kind of town where people still go to church on Sunday.

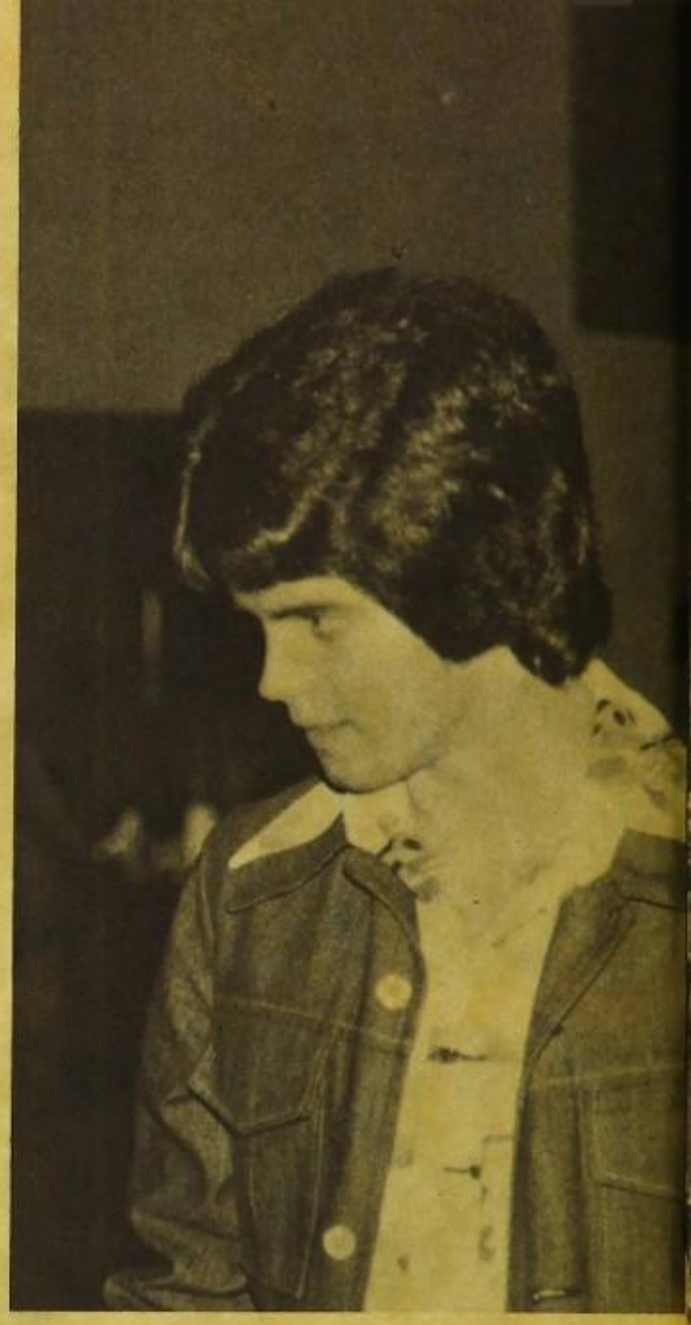


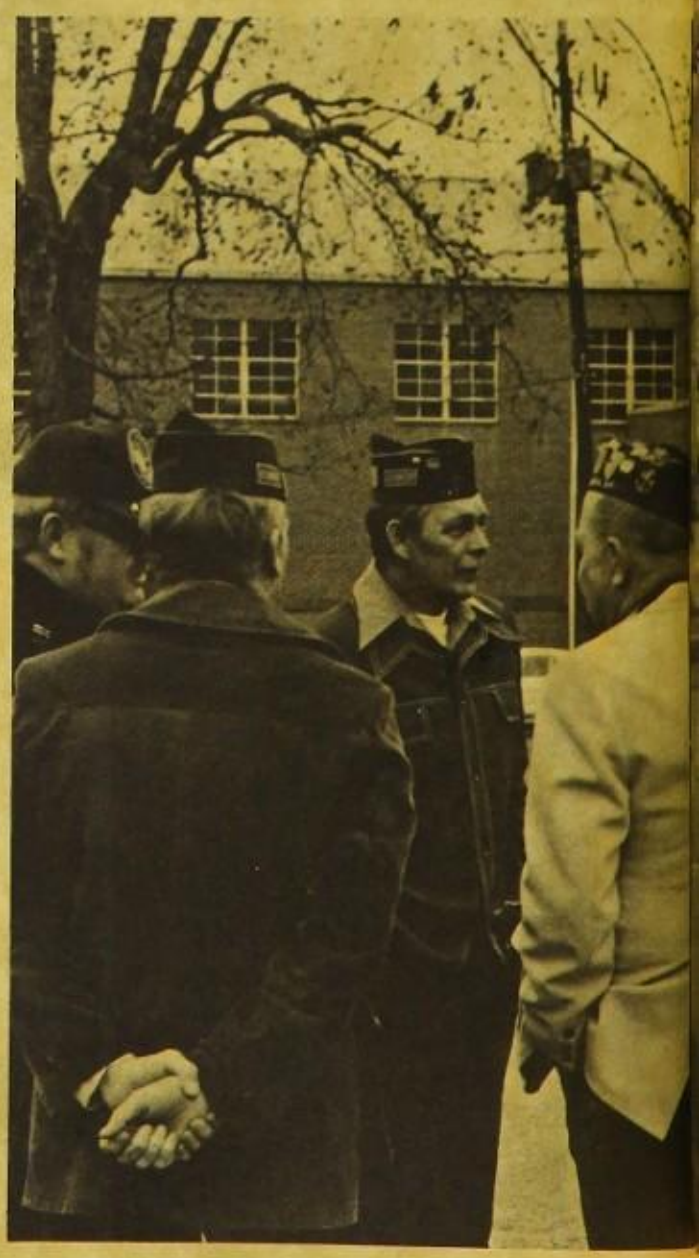


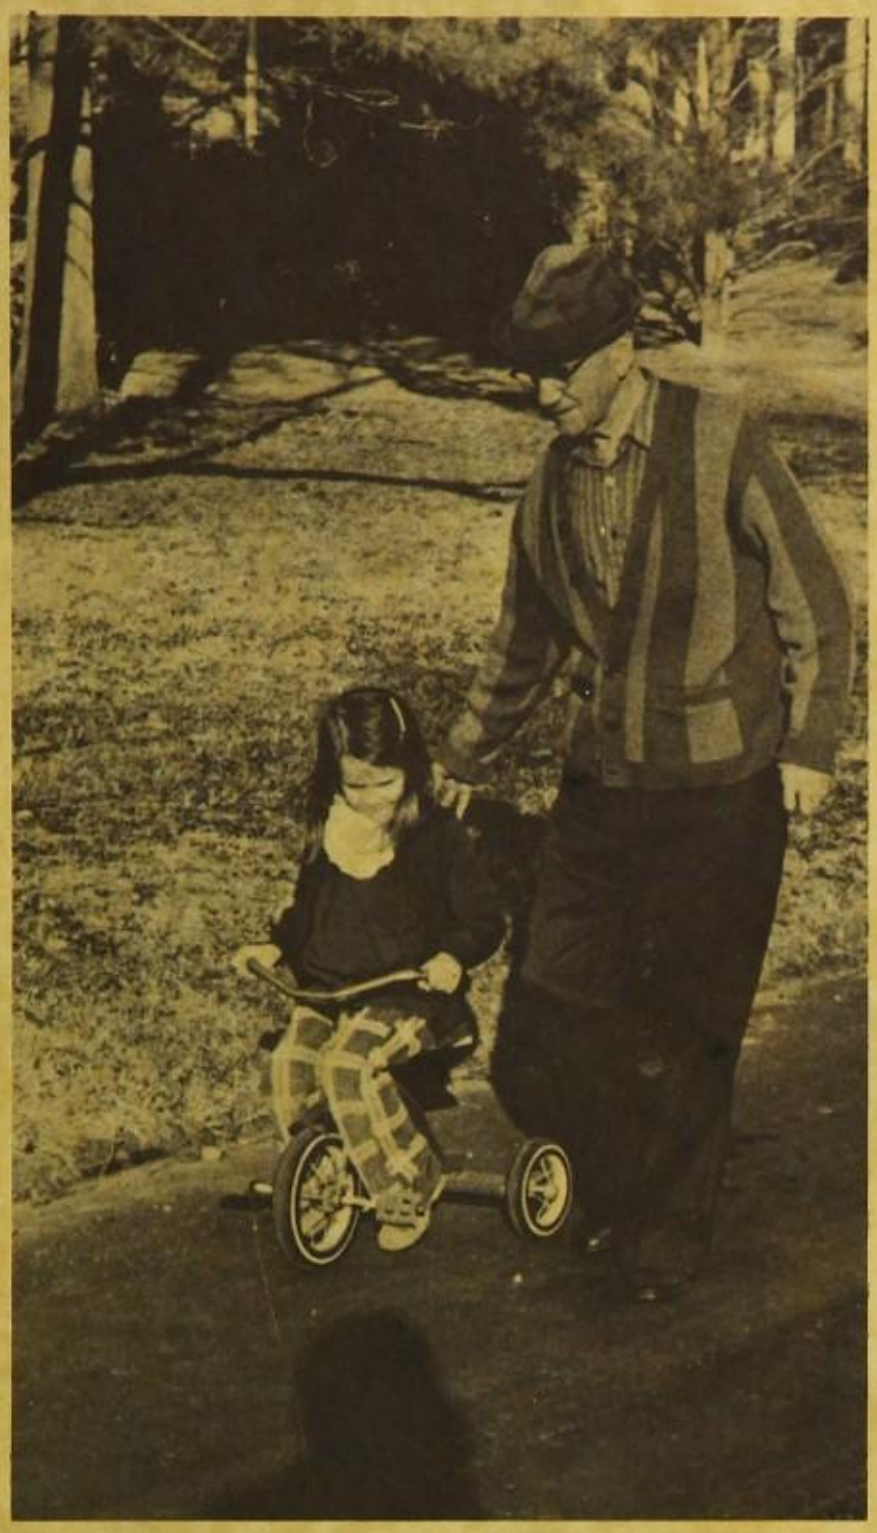


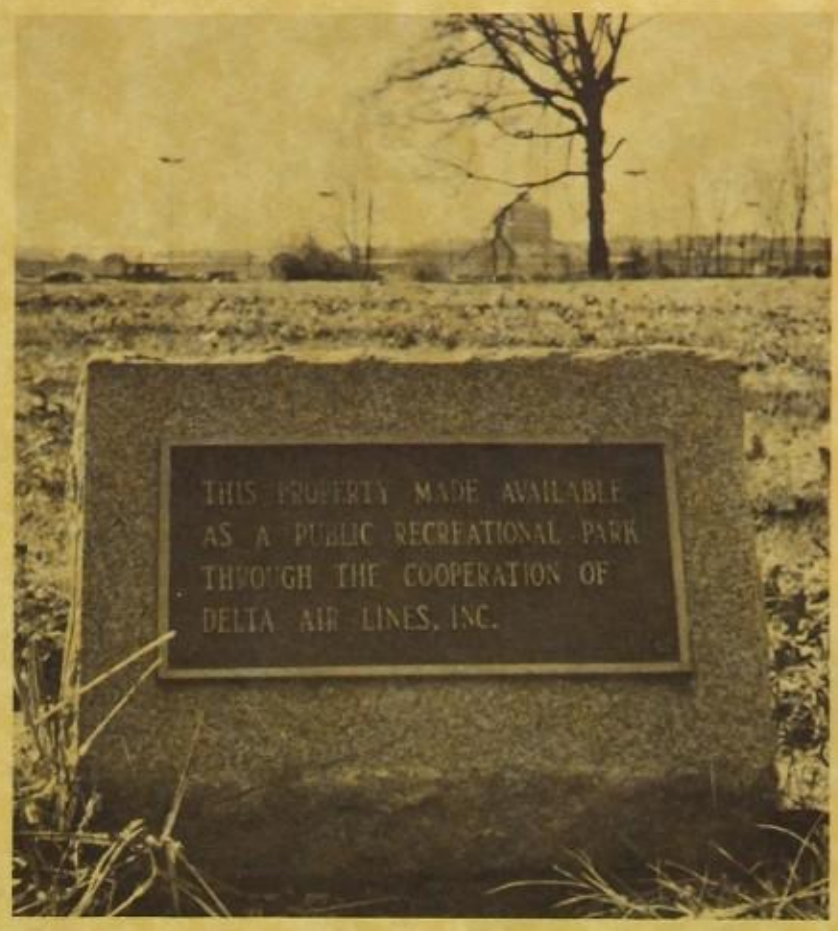












It's the kind of town that cares.

It may be a little quiet—
Sometimes downright dumpy!

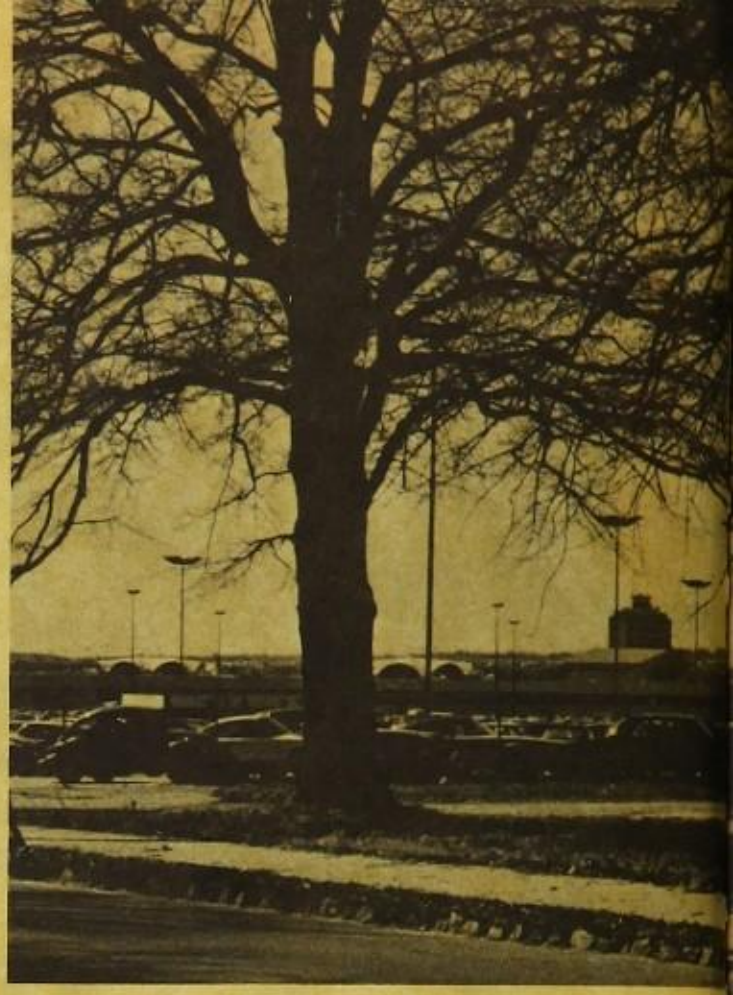
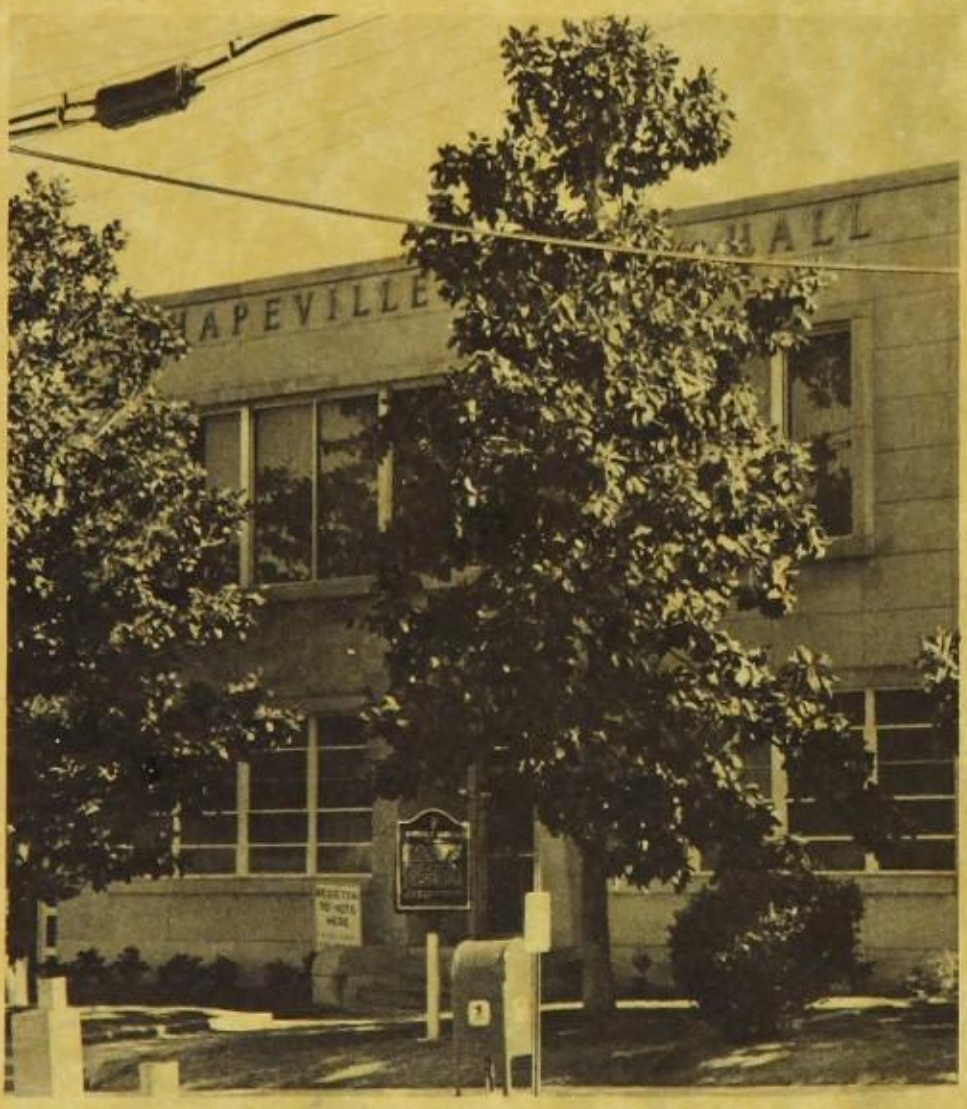
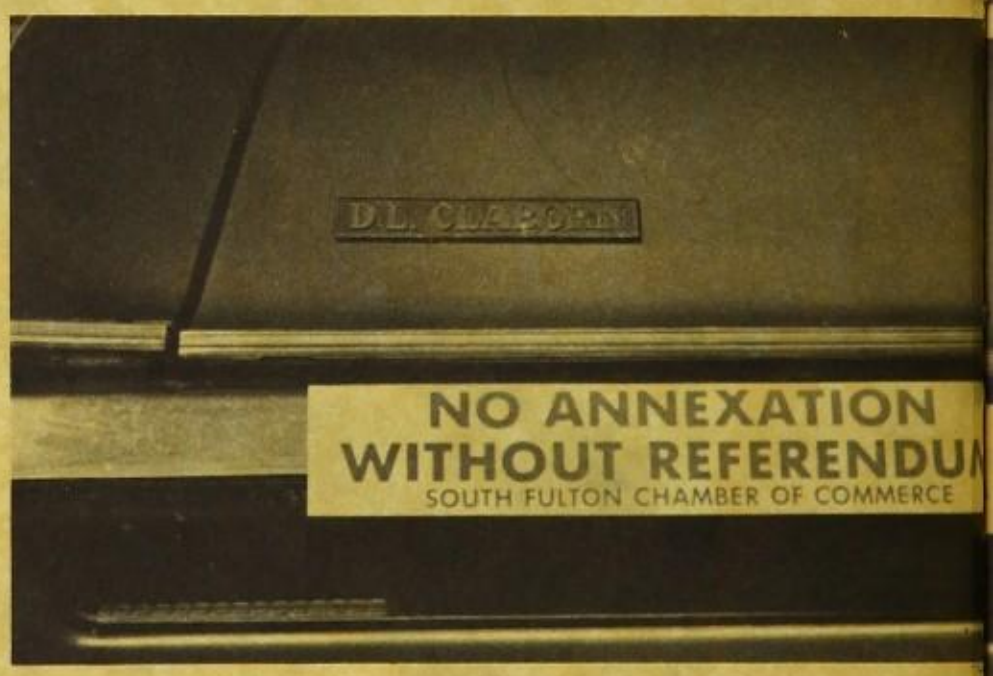
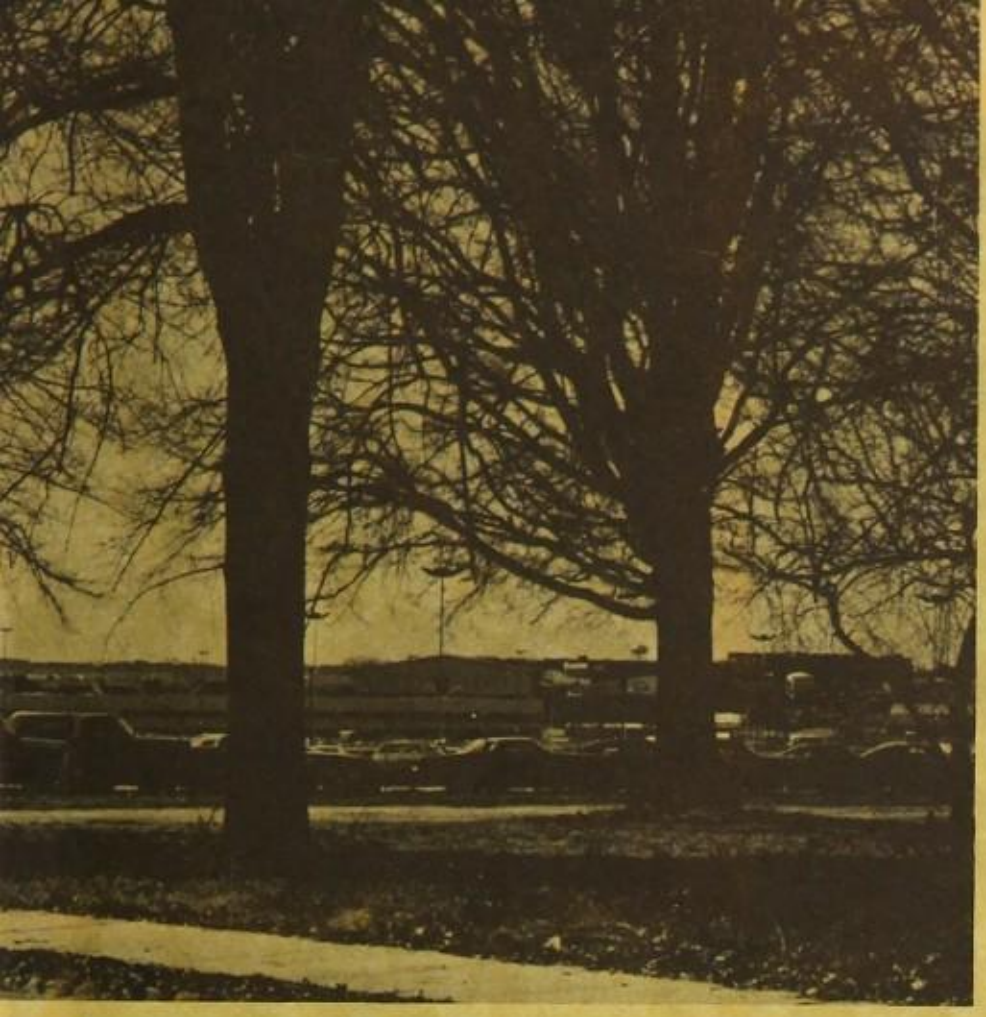
ATLANTA

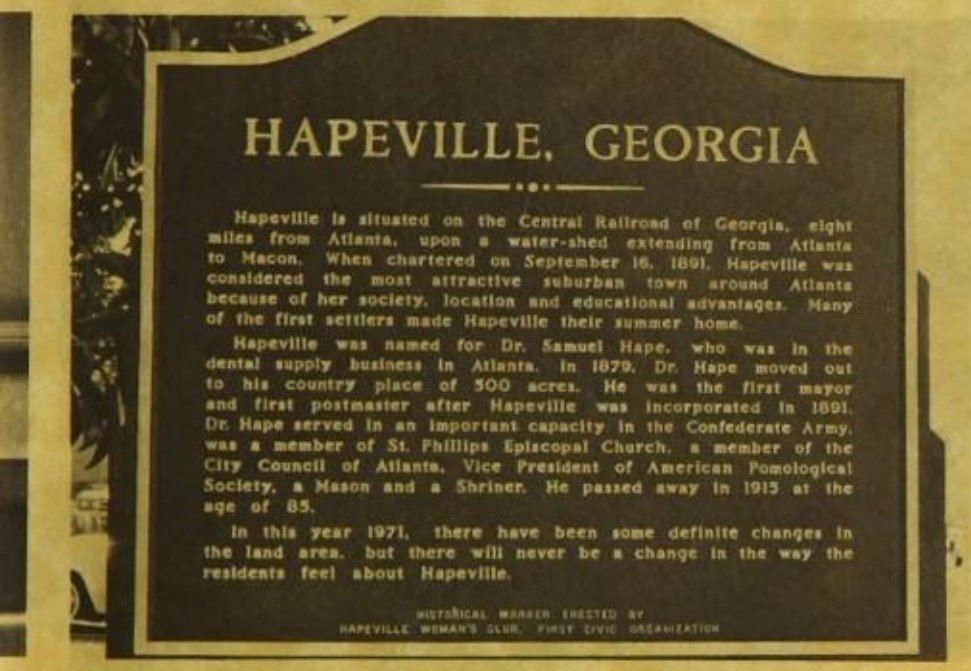






It has a challenging present...





HAPEVILLE, GEORGIA
Hapeville is situated on the Central Railroad of Georgia, eight miles from Atlanta, upon a water-shed extending from Atlanta to Macon. When chartered on September 16, 1891, Hapeville was considered the most attractive suburban town around Atlanta because of her society, location and educational advantages. Many of the first settlers made Hapeville their summer home.
Hapeville was named for Dr. Samuel Hape, who was in the dental supply business in Atlanta. In 1879, Dr. Hape moved out to his country place of 500 acres. He was the first mayor and first postmaster after Hapeville was incorporated in 1891. Dr. Hape served in an important capacity in the Confederate Army, was a member of St. Phillips Episcopal Church, a member of the City Council of Atlanta, Vice President of American Pomological Society, a Mason and a Shriner. He passed away in 1915 at the age of 85.
In this year 1971, there have been some definite changes in the land area, but there will never be a change in the way the residents feel about Hapeville.

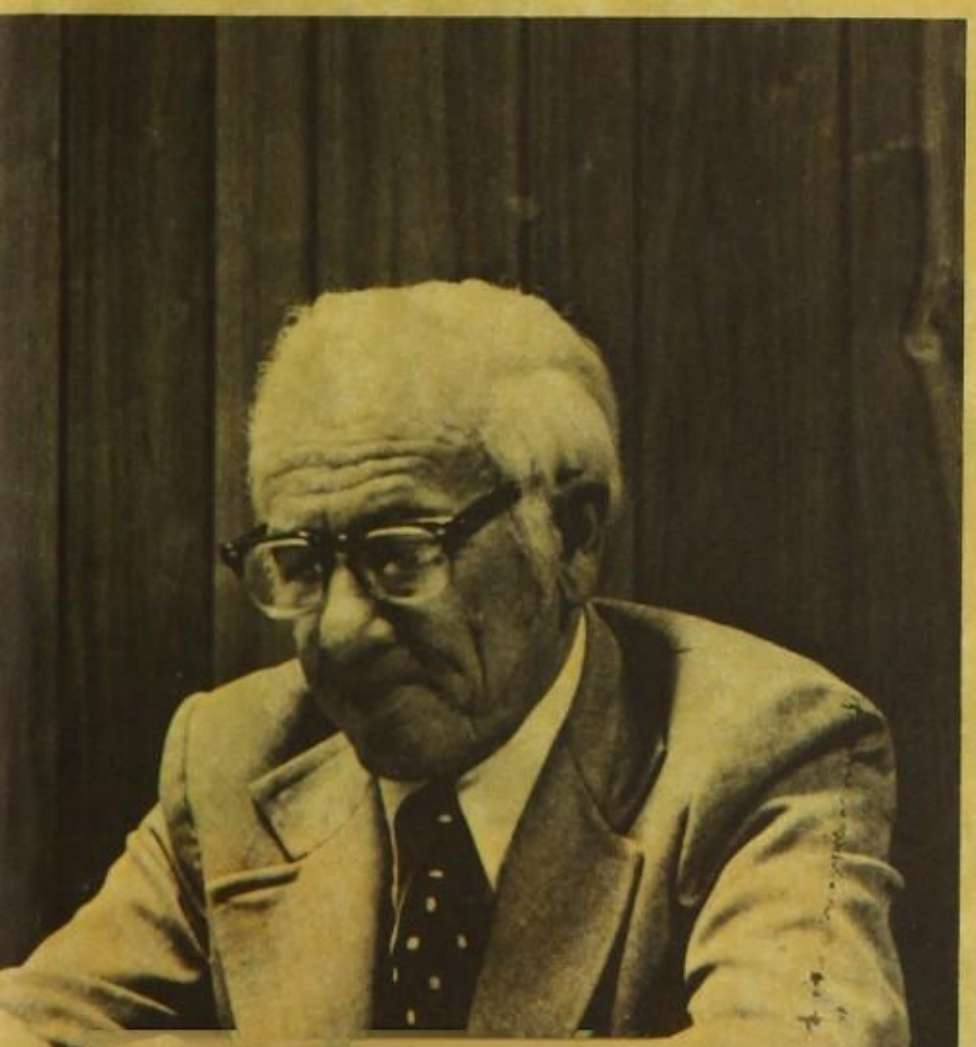
HAPEVILLE WOMAN'S CLUB, FIRST CIVIC ORGANIZATION



Citizens Comment:

Why do you live in Hapeville? Hapeville has a strong sense of community and a responsive city government-J.J. Allen . . . It's a small quiet town. It's close to my husband's place of occupation-Anonymous . . . Because our business was established here twenty years ago-Mrs. J.R. Weldon . . . What do you feel is the greatest problem facing Hapeville today? We're surrounded by other cities and have no room to grow--Mrs. M.J. Neill . . . Inadequate parking, competition with shopping centers--Mrs. J.R. Weldon . . . It has no appeal for young couples-Anonymous . . . The possibility of being annexed to Atlanta-Mrs. J.A. Meyer . . . If you are employed in Hapeville, what are the problems facing business in Hapeville? How do you view the future? I'm not employed in Hapeville but I know our people do not support home business. We should back our merchants-Mrs. Mary Maher . . . Lack of support of the business community by the residents and particularly by the institutions that call on the business community for help. In my business the future looks reasonably good because we draw business from outside the community. For business in general, bad-Mr. J.J. Allen . . . What are the advantages of living in Hapeville? Disadvantages? Low taxes, good garbage pickup, good schools. Near Atlanta-Mrs. M.J. Neill . . . Small enough to know many people and have a feeling of belonging-Anonymous . . . A disadvantage is that you have to go elsewhere to do your shopping--Mrs. Betty Drukenmiller.

Hapeville's future, as does the future of the entire country, lies in its children. Children have the opportunity to have the best of the old and the new.

"A Book."

"What for?"

"To put Things and Memories in."

"What Things?"

"Whatever You have," You said. Well, here's Your Book. Nearly everything We have is in it, and it is not full. Pain and Excitement are in it, and Feeling Good or Bad and Evil Thoughts and Good Thoughts — the Pleasure of Design and some Despair and the Indescrible Joy of Creation. And on top of these are all the Gratitude and Love We have for You.

And still the Book is not full.

PROGRESSIVE JUSTICE

Juvenile delinquents are a fact of life in Hapeville, U. S. A. They are not over-whelming in number, but they are numerous enough to warrant a new City Council program to deal with them in a, hopefully, constructive way.

At the head of this program is Officer L. B. Butts, a husky, 31 year-old member of the Hapeville Police Department. Officer Butts noted that the main thrust of the new program for dealing with Hapeville's juvenile offenders will be towards doing as much as possible to keep them from becoming hardened criminals of the future. The town's problem youngsters will be dealt with primarily in town rather than downtown, where the work load is heavier and the atmosphere less personal.

Officer Butts hopes that the preventive side of the program will prove to be as important as the punitive. Helping potential young offenders find jobs, tutoring those who are having trouble in school and having dances policed by young people themselves are parts of the preventive program.

On issues related to juveniles and juvenile delinquents, Officer Butts made the following observations: "Eighty-five to ninety percent of adult criminals were, to begin, juvenile delinquents."
"The main cause of deliquency is a bad home environment. The choices people make depend mostly on what they see happening in their families. Bad examples generally lead to bad choices."

"One of the best ways to fight juvenile crime is through education, getting potential drop-outs to stay in school."

Nobody ever told me that LIFE would be like this. If one more set of cold fingers touches me--just one--I swear I'll . . . AGH! I just don't get no respect.

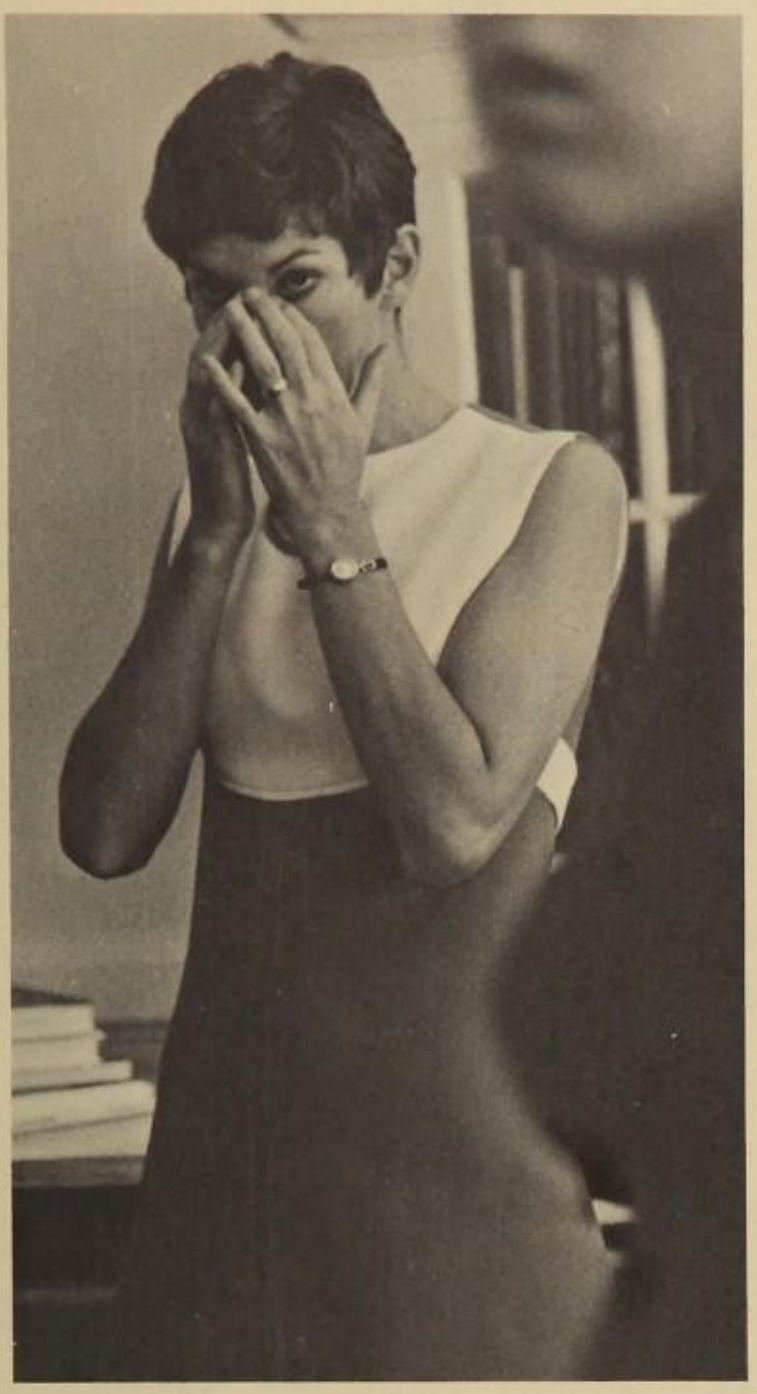
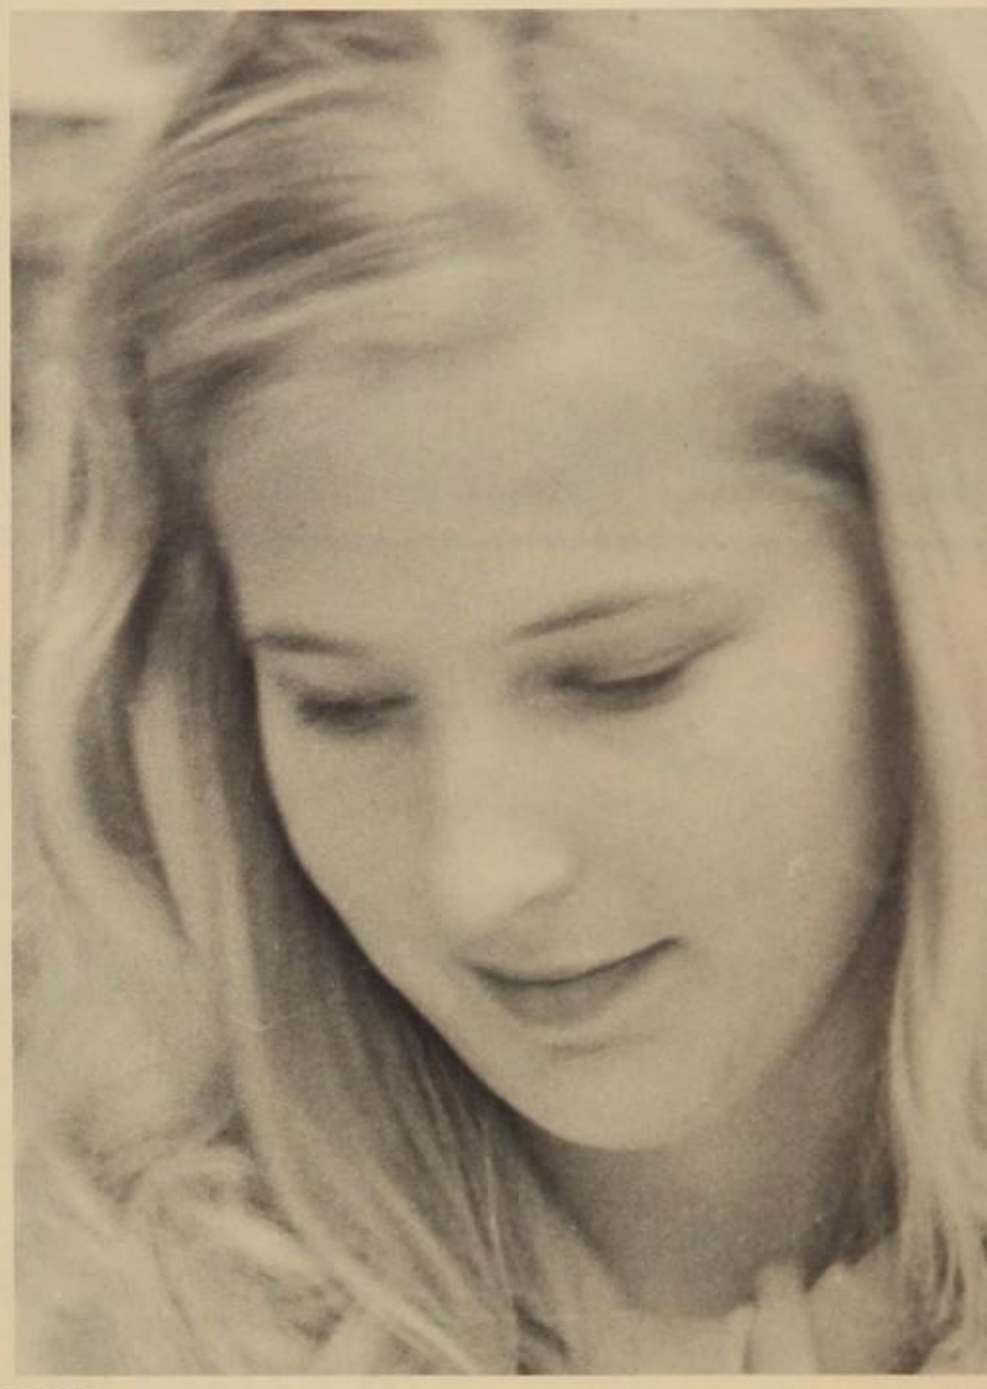
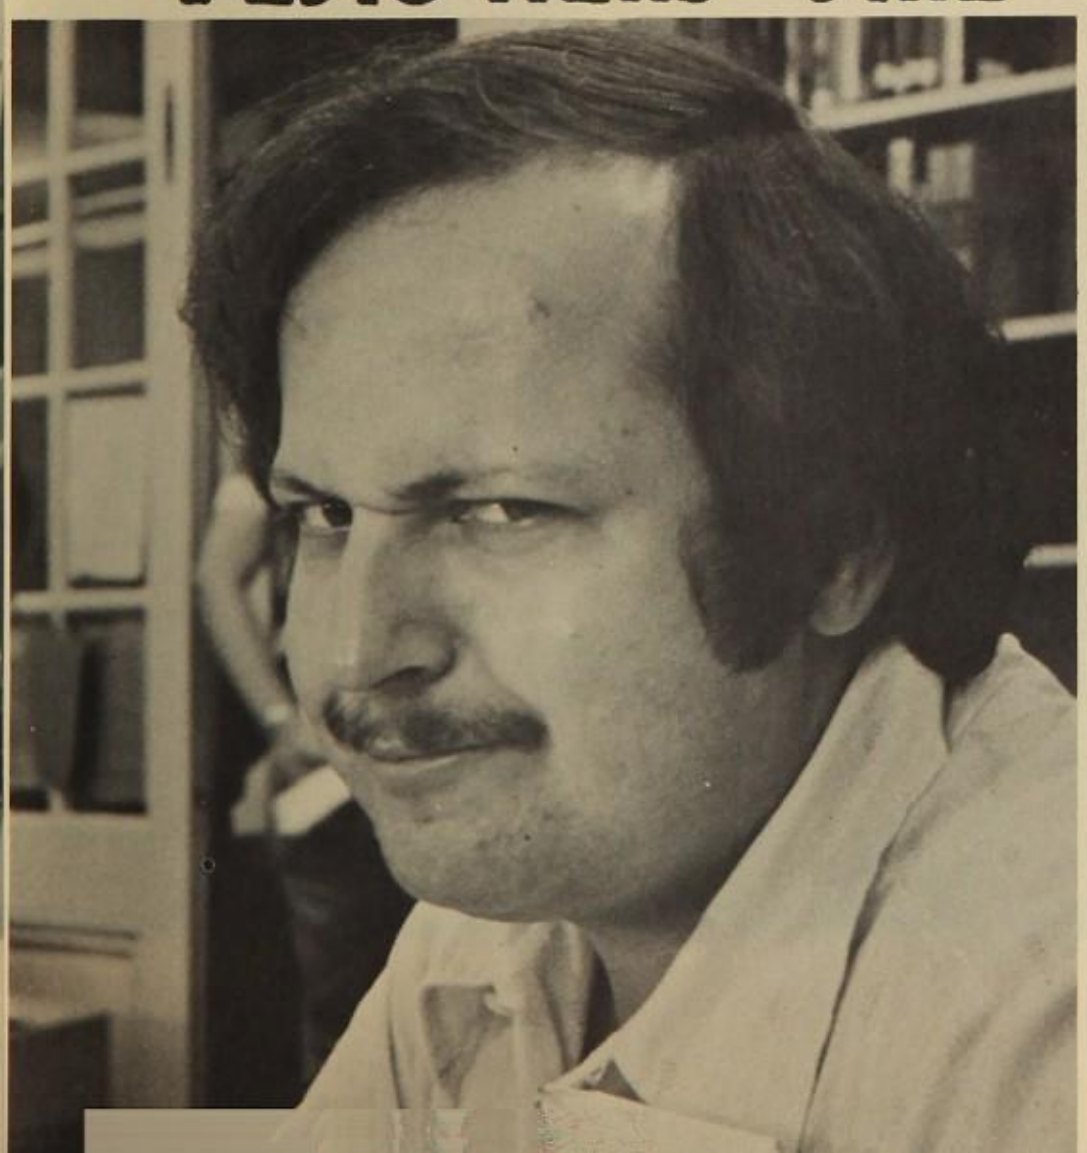
HERITAGE





Teachers are Human Too.-



When I first came to Hapeville High, I saw a certain teacher and she smiled at me and I smiled back. She is about five feet, six inches tall and she wears nice looking clothes and she likes to have a good time with her class. The reason I like her more than anything is because she teaches her lab class different from any other lab teacher that I have had. At another school, I was in a lab class and the teacher didn't care if you learned or not but now the teacher is different. She cares about everything a person does and I like that very much. She likes it when students come to school every day and are in her class on time.

When we do all of her work, she likes to have a good time with young people and she likes to read and she likes for her students to read a lot.

She does not like it when a person sleeps in her class and never does any work. She does not like for anyone to talk when she is talking and I like her for she is one of the nicest teachers I know. I remember the time I did not turn in my homework, she did not get mad or anything. She just told me to turn it in before the day was over and I turned it in. Then one time the whole class did not finish reading their book on time. She didn't get mad or anything like mad. She just told us that there wasn't much time left in the quarter and that we better get with it. She will not do more for one person than she will for another. She wants for us all to come into her class and do our work everyday, rather than doing work about twice a year and trying to pass. I like her because she is different from any other teacher. Taking a Test or Slooooow Torture

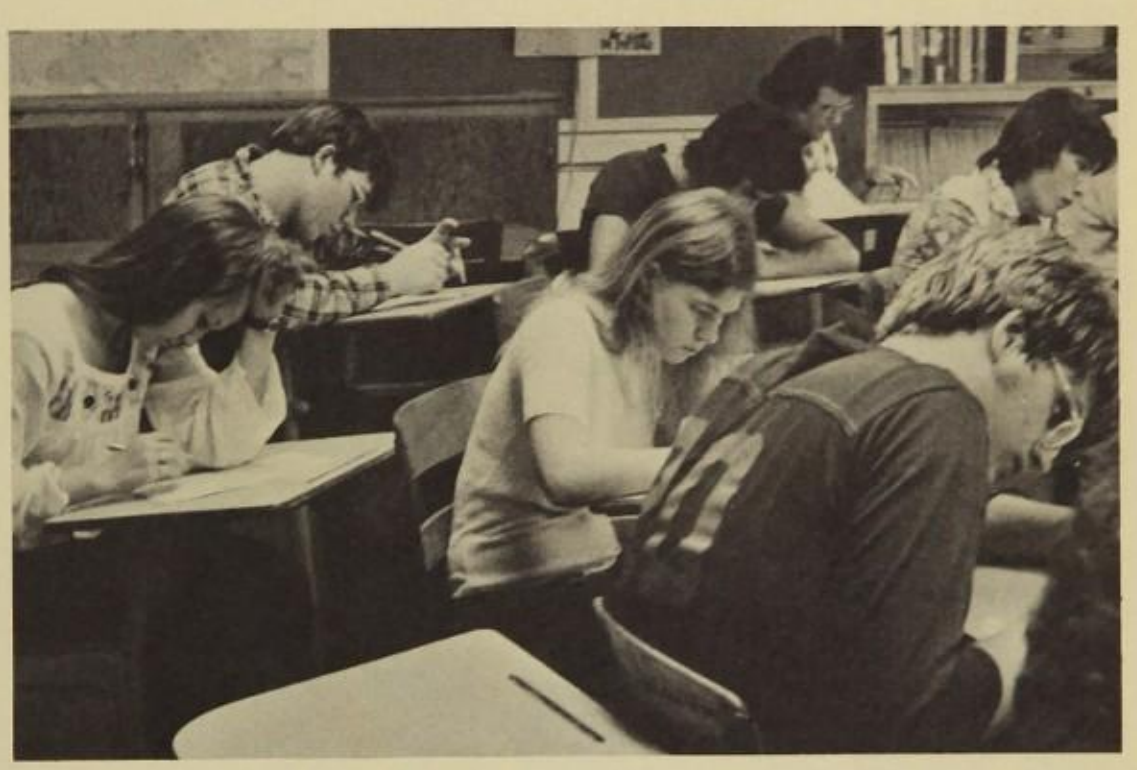
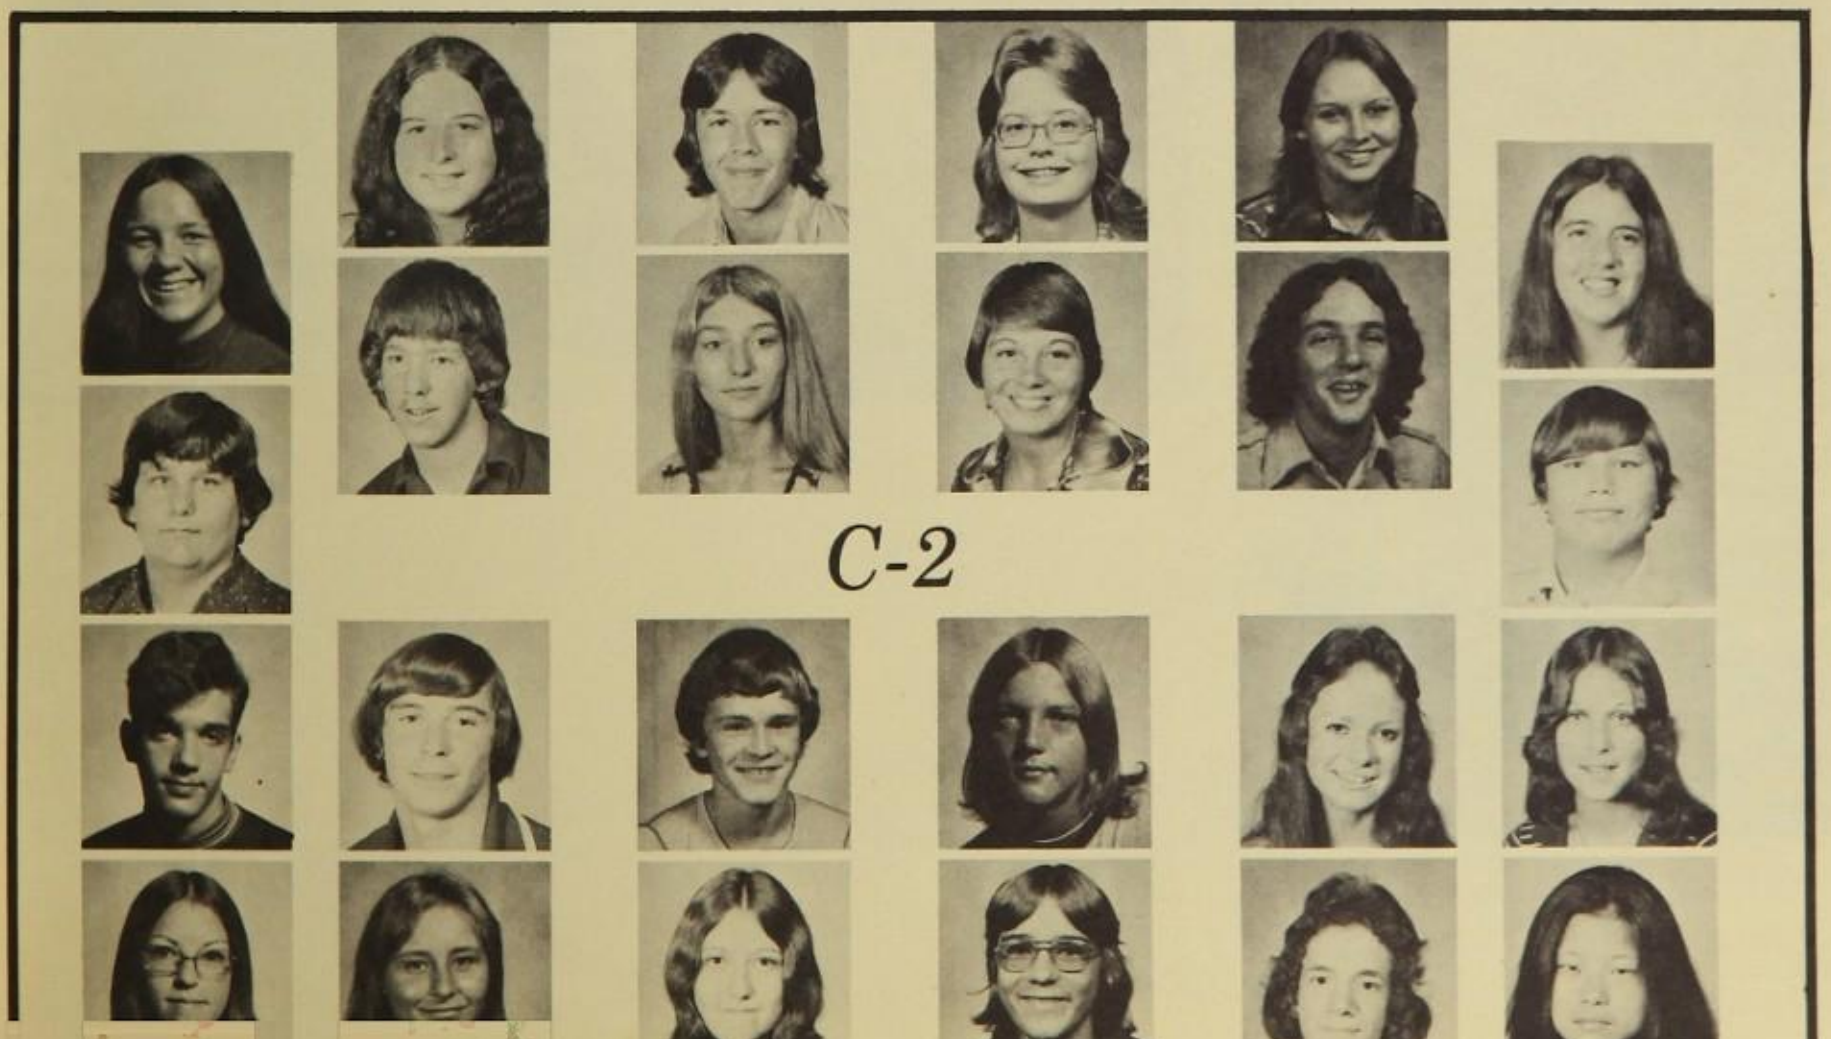
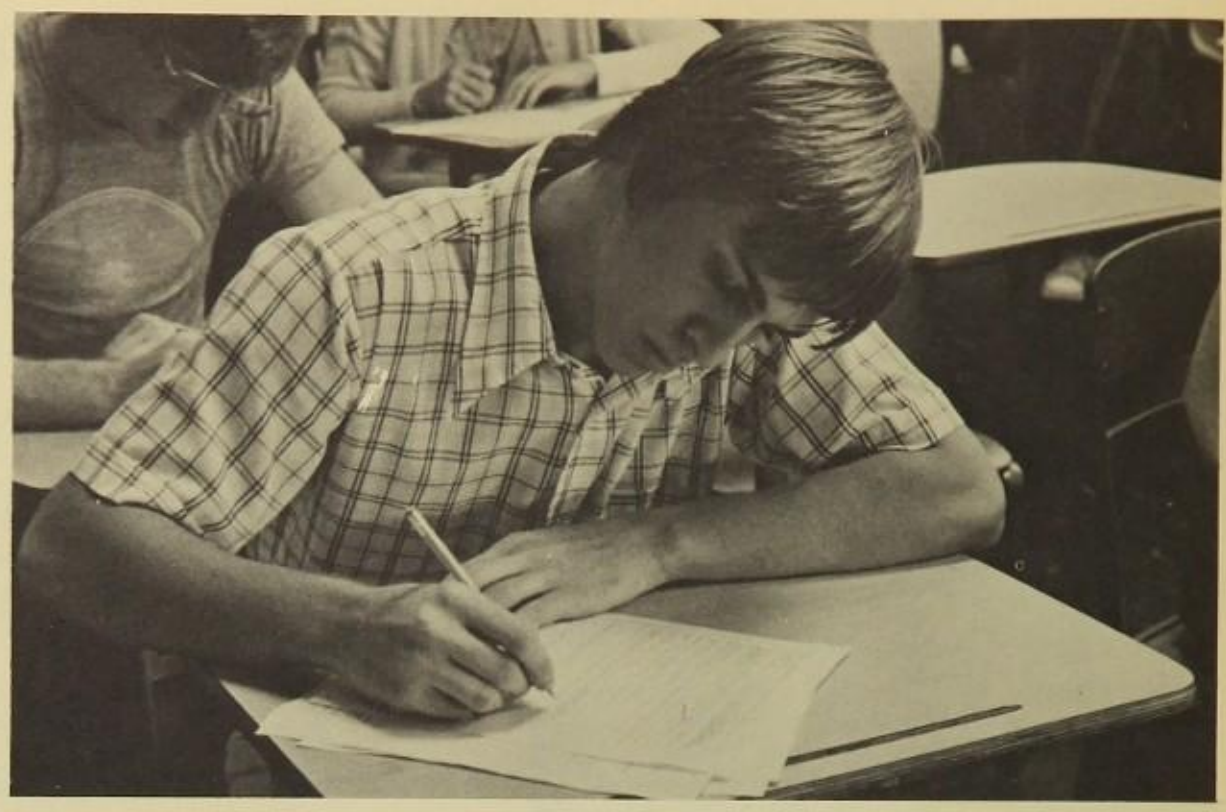
Well, here goes. I sure hope I remember all that we've studied. A six page test! How can she possibly get six pages of discussion questions out of one chapter? I'm doomed.

To cheat or not to cheat--that is the question. If I don't, I won't pass and if I don't pass this test, I shall not pass the quarter.





C-2



On the other hand, it is not right to cheat and I'll only be hurting myself. But I really knew the chapter--it's not my fault the test is so blasted hard. Perhaps, I could have studied more thoroughly. My mind's made up. I may fail, but I did it on my own.

Gosh, I don't even remember reading that. Say, I know the answer to this one. Oh, oh, here's a trick question. Let's see . . . Whew! I'm finally finished. It was rough but maybe I made it. Who knows? On to next period!

September 22 - Monday - It was a long day. At 8:15 FCA met. Of course, there was football practice after school. At 7:30 this evening SAGE met. This week we'll be busy with projects.

September 23 - Tuesday - I had to skip the Spanish Club meeting this afternoon since I had football, but I promised I'd design a banner for the pep rally. The Varsity Chorus rehearsed tonight. The first concert is soon. We also need to raise money for our tour.

September 24 - Wednesday - The FBLA was selling calendars to raise money for Homecoming. I hope my mom will like one for Christmas. The newspaper deadline is Friday and my story is not complete. Help!

September 25 - Thursday - We had an easy practice today. We're going to need all our strength for tomorrow night. It took me 'till 1 a.m. to finish my story --Coach would be angry.

September 26 - Friday - We were all up for the game and won. Afterwards there was a dance sponsored by the junior class. All the juniors were supposed to move chairs after the pep rally but the president exempts the players during the season. Thank heavens! Of course, I had to help clean up after the dance. Yecch!

September 27 - Saturday - The Student Council sponsored a car wash. There's never a free moment. Tonight I must proofread the paper. What a week!

5-5 season, but exciting

Hapeville's 1975 football season was filled with exciting football, even though the record was just 5-5. Eighteen offensive records were either tied or broken.

Along with the new head coach, "Billy Ray" Speck, came the Hornet's powerful new I-offense.

The 4-4 defense proved to be effective under the leadership of the new defensive Coach, Paul Ferguson.

"This year's team proved to be one of the best at Hapeville High. The team played many close and exciting games. Besides having a powerful running attack, as in past years, we also had a powerful passing offense. This proved to be important, since the opponents would not simply key the running game, but would have to watch for the pass. Next year I'm hoping for an even better year."

B-Team Gets Needed Experience

The B-Team put together a creditable season this year under the head coaching of Ed Daniel and his new assistant, Bud Ramsey, despite a 1-4 record. The B-Teamer's only win came over Heard County, with losses to Westwood, Loganville, and twice to East Coweta. In spite of the disappointments of the season, Coach Daniel felt that the Baby Hornets obtained much experience valuable to them as future varsity players.

Varsity Cheerleaders— A Brand New Us

Strange as it might seem, the whole varsity cheering squad was new to their task. The squad also had a brand new advisor, Mrs. Brenda Neely. How did the year turn out in their opinion? It has helped me get over my problem of shyness--Mary Martha Coursey. I've never laughed so much or had more fun in my life--Susie Valero. It has been a lot of fun, and I know I will remember it always--Mary Christian. It was a rewarding experience and one which I shall never forget--Carol Kelly. We got a lot more accomplished than we thought we would --Renee Weldon. It was fun--Liz Holt.

That's the Way the Ball Bounces

This year's Varsity Basketball team put on a good performance though the record may not show it. Eight seniors graduated last year and there were only three players with previous varsity experience: Ronnie Mask, Mike Darby, and Jeff Foxworthy. The rest of the team was composed of two juniors, three sophomores, and one freshman. Not satisfied with the season, Coach Speck remarked, "We started slowly and ended slowly."

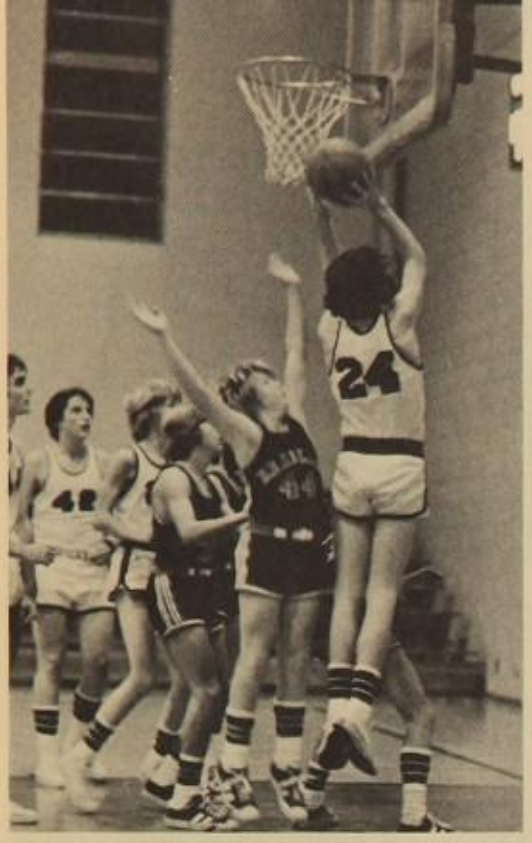
Mike has been one of the few bright points of this young, inexperienced team. He has given "on the floor" leadership as well as being our leading scorer and rebounder. The team depends on him for many things and he has given good accounts of himself throughout the season.

Melanie's attitude, her hustle, and her overall team play have made her a leader this past season. Though not a successful scorer, her play-making helped our offense to be very successful. She was an excellent defensive player with her aggressiveness and her ability for rebounding.

B-Team Basketball — A Learning Experience



When you're hot, you're hot . . .

Confusion, as B. Meyer hits from corner.

The B-Team Boys' Basketball team had a slow season this year. The team was composed of eight sophomores and two freshmen plus a new coach. Of the season Coach Rod Chatham said, "This was my first year of coaching basketball and I learned a lot."

8th Grade — "Good Honest Effort"

The Eighth Grade Boys' Basketball team gained a great deal of valuable experience this year. Throughout the season, the team has improved greatly. Coach Ramsey stated, "In the eighth grade program we are concerned with teaching the players to love the game and learning the fundamentals. The game is to be enjoyed. The emphasis is not on winning, but on a good honest effort. If you do your best, you're a winner regardless of the score."

Helpful hints from the sideline.

The Varsity Girls have stayed together and played together for several years. They realized how good they could be and then worked hard to be good.

Togetherness and dedication has paid off for this year's girls' team. The key has been their overall attitude. They believed in the coach, in their teammates, and in themselves. They knew what it took to be a winner, and knew that they could beat any team they played on any given night.

The girls wanted to prove that they were a great team and that they could win more games than any other Hapeville girls' team ever-And THEY DID.

Melanie Bishop

"It's All in a State of Mind"

Coach Paul Ferguson comments on wrestling: "At this time in the history of our country, there are few places where a young man can learn the lessons or prepare himself to meet the situations which life will present. Wrestling teaches this lesson. A wrestler cannot call upon a substitute when he is tired or confused. He cannot be supplied with strategy at a crucial moment, or discuss his personal problems and difficulties during the heat of an engagement. Once he steps onto the mat, he must depend on his own intelligence and physical prowess. Since all the demands are upon the individual, he alone must be responsible and pay the price of preparation if he desires to succeed. He cannot hide his mistakes or his lack of preparation from the crowd, he stands alone. If everyone in our society had the dedication a winning wrestler does, America would have no problems and no enemies, for we would be too strong. The attitude I ask of my wrestlers is one I challenge the students of Hapeville and America to accept, and that is to develop an attitude for the willingness to sacrifice and to dedicate themselves to do whatever it takes to win, as long as it is honorable and just."

Objectives

To promote the welfare of children and youth in home, school, church, and community.

To raise the standards of home life.

To secure adequate laws for the care and protection of children and youth.

To bring into closer relation the home and the school, that parents and teachers may cooperate intelligently in the education of children and youth.

To develop between educators and the general public such united efforts as will secure for all children and youth the highest advantages in physical, mental, social, and spiritual education.

Daniel's Army

The spring of 1975 was a good one for the Hornet Baseball Team even though it was unable to repeat its region championship. This was a rebuilding year from the year before. In the sub-region race Hapeville and Pace battled it out in the final regular season game for the sub-region title with the Pace coming out on top.

The Hapeville record was 5 - 2 in sub-region games and 8 - 9 overall.

Hapeville High fielded both male and female track teams in the 1976 season. Coaches for the teams were Martha Hamilton and Paul Ferguson. Mrs. Hamilton, who did not originally plan a coaching career, was asked how she came to be involved. "I've wondered that myself a number of times. Seriously, the girls asked me and I felt the least I could do was help them as much as I could."

Senior girls participating in track included K. Koon, C. Walker, and L. Williams. Senior boys were R. Mask, D. Ordner, J. Foxworthy, P. Rintye, and M. Wheeler.

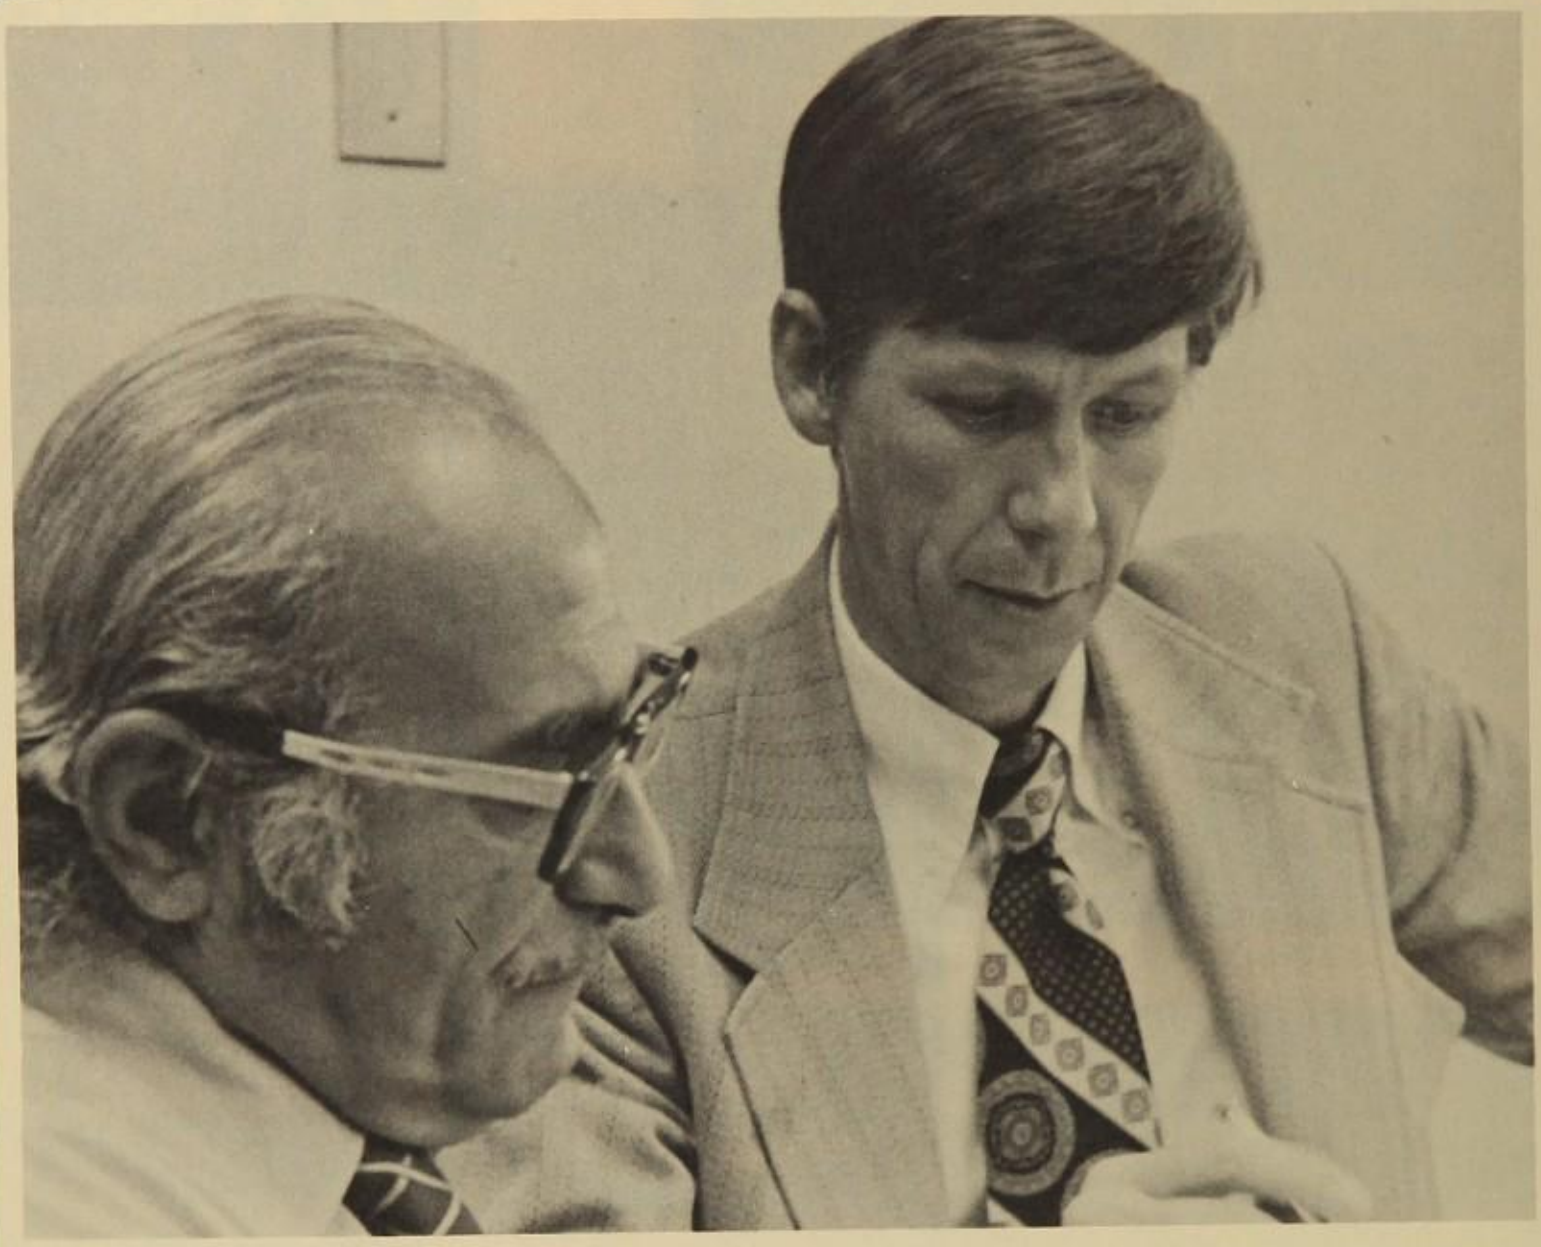
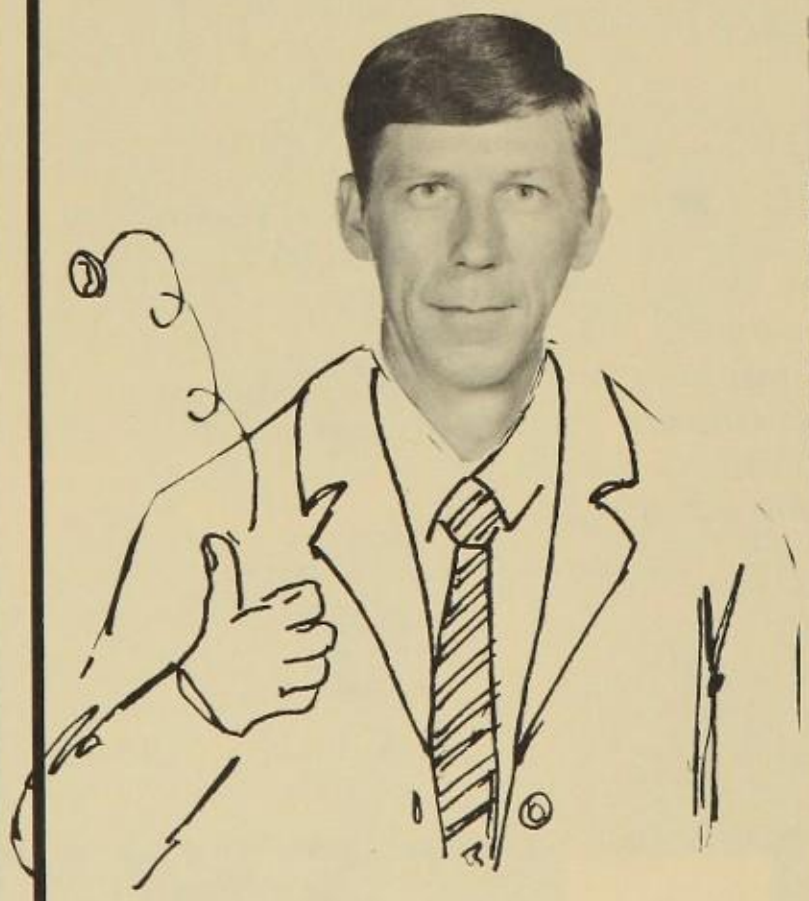
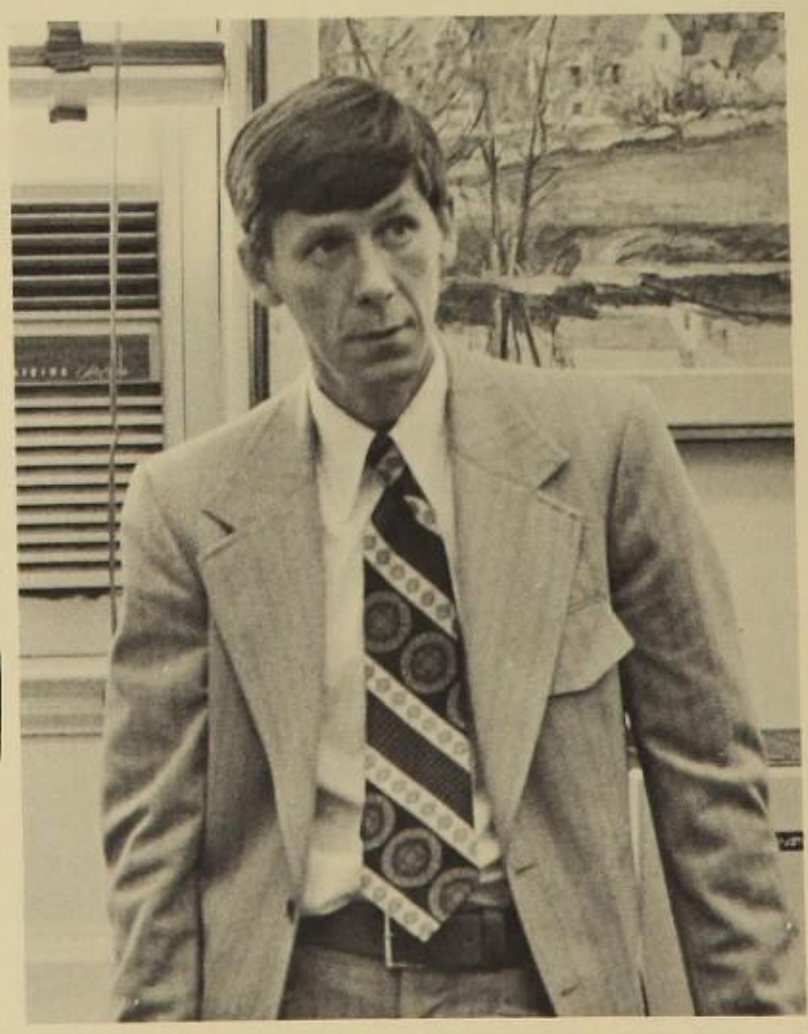
THE MAN





The Great
Decision - Maker

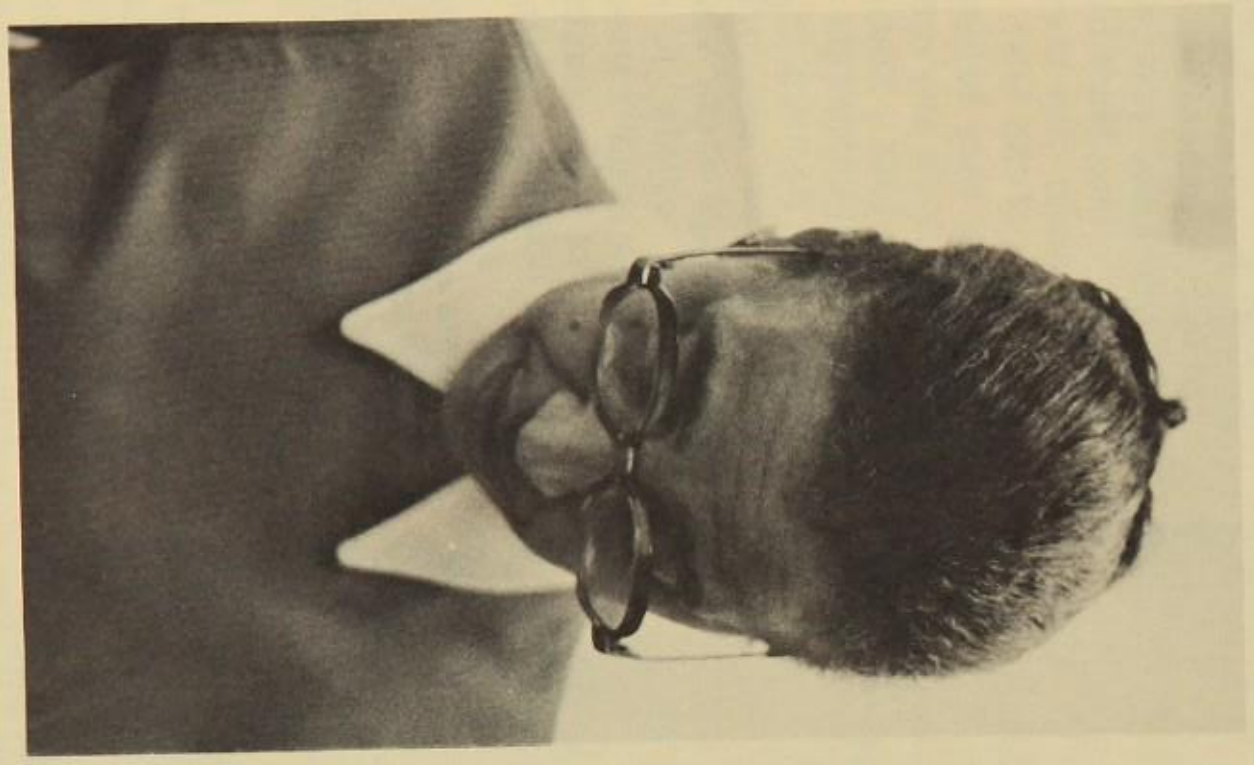


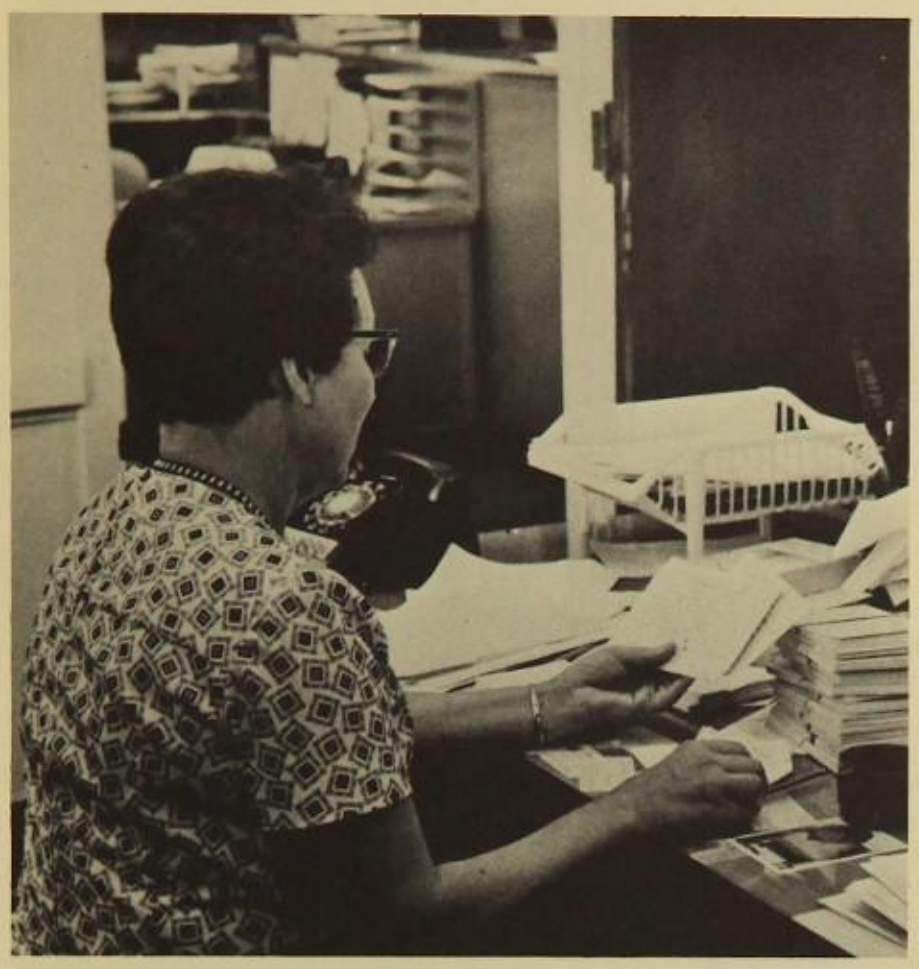
THE INNER MAN

Why did you choose education as your career? In the tenth grade I had a math teacher that couldn't teach me math. I thought I could do a better job.

List three strengths and weaknesses of the school. STRENGTHS- 1. Attitude of the kids. 2. Community interest 3. Most subject areas; personnel and curriculum. WEAKNESSES- 1. Ten percent of the students do not take advantage of opportunities. 2. Weak reading and math skills. 3. People, parents included, accept things without questioning. How do students in a smaller school compare with those of a larger school? In a school with 1000 kids, you can't know the majority. Teachers here can call 50% by name; they may not know the names of the rest, but they realize that they belong here. Basically, kids are the same everywhere; it's just a matter of developing relationships with them. Ninety-five percent of all kids are good, the rest are sorry. What are your feelings about what is being called the "crisis" in education? The crisis is not caused by pay. The lack of basic fundamentals such as reading, math, and study skills is the problem. Either the schools are not teaching these things or they are not teaching them as well. We'll have to go back to a conservative environment in certain areas. What advice would you give to a young person wishing to enter the teaching profession? Be sure that it is what you want to do. You must enjoy working with young people. You'll be disappointed often and thrilled sometimes.

BEHIND THE THRONE





It has been said that behind every man there is a woman. In Mr. Givens' case there are four: Mrs. Pickelsimer, Mrs. Washington, Mrs. Taylor, and Mrs. Stacy. Mrs. Pickelsimer checks on absentees, frets over discipline problems, and aids students in discovering Mr. Givens' hiding places. The most beautiful thing about her, though, is her smile and the twinkle in her eyes when she is amused. Mrs. Washington is affectionately called "The Magician" by students and faculty alike for she manages to commit them to a task before it is known what it is. She also possesses the rare gift of convincing you that you can do something even if you don't think you can. Mrs. Taylor spends her time straightening out teen-age ledgers. Somehow she finds the time and the patience to lend a sympathetic ear when you're sick. Mrs. Stacy always has a smile for the tired student using her phone for the thousandth time.

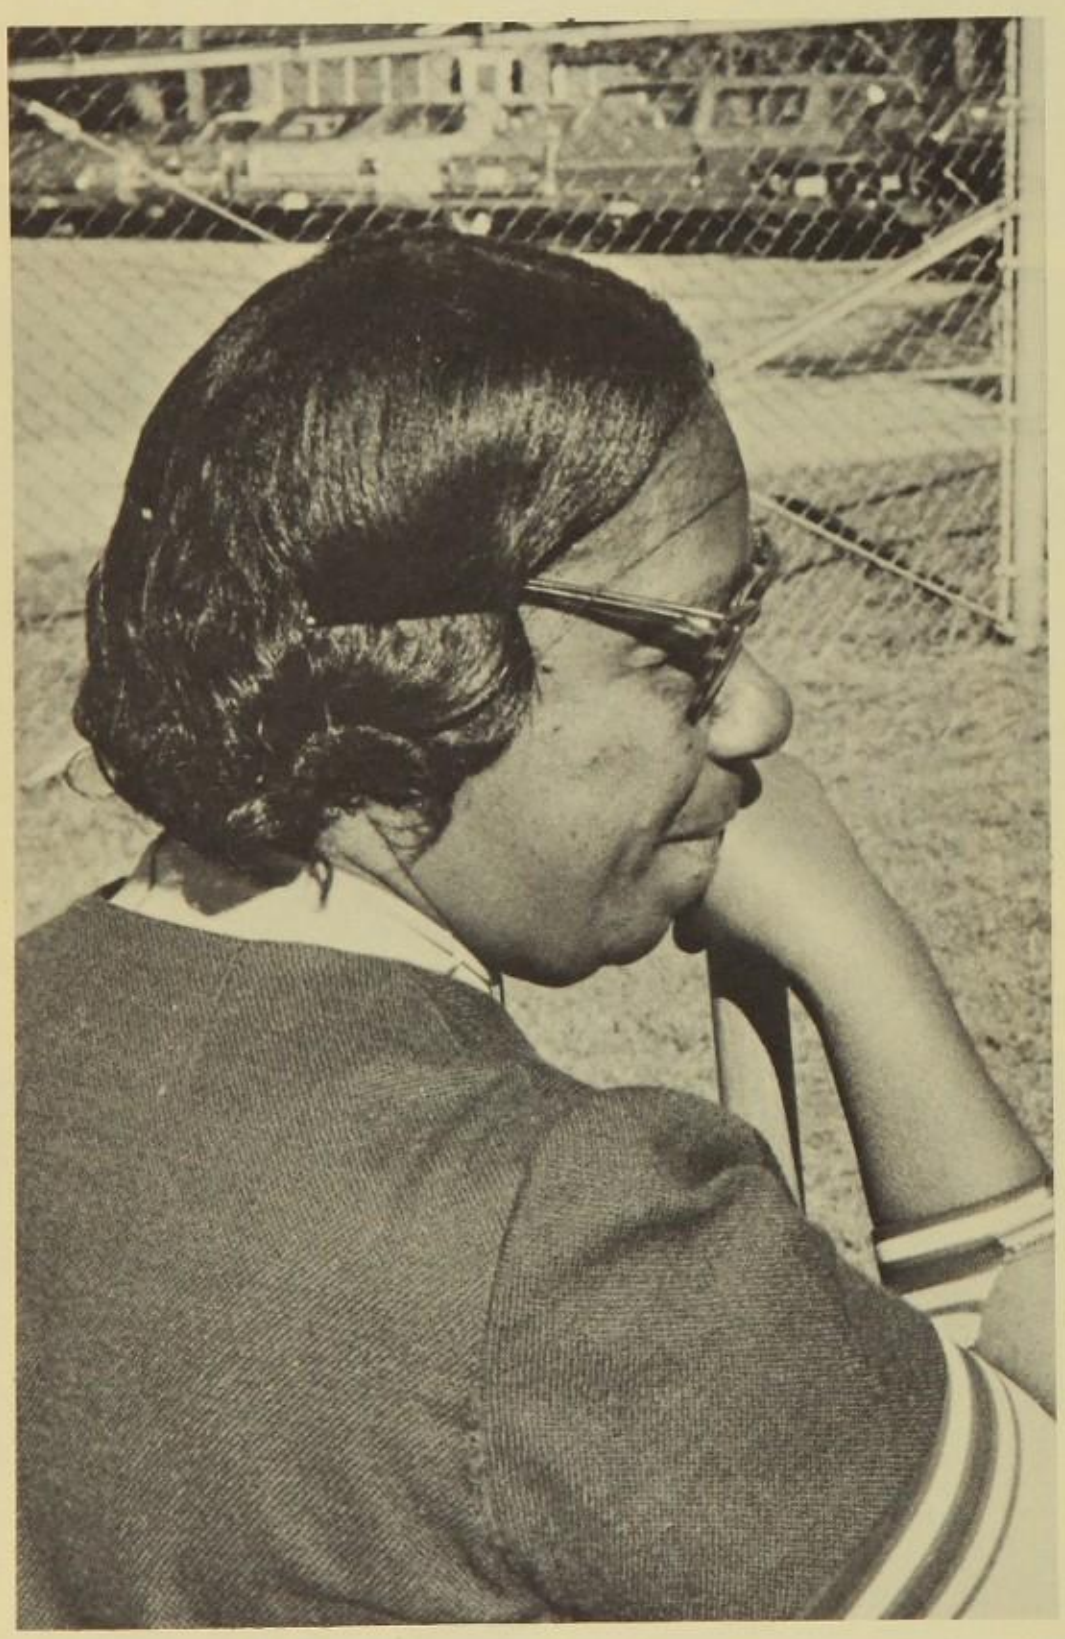
Dirty Work Goes

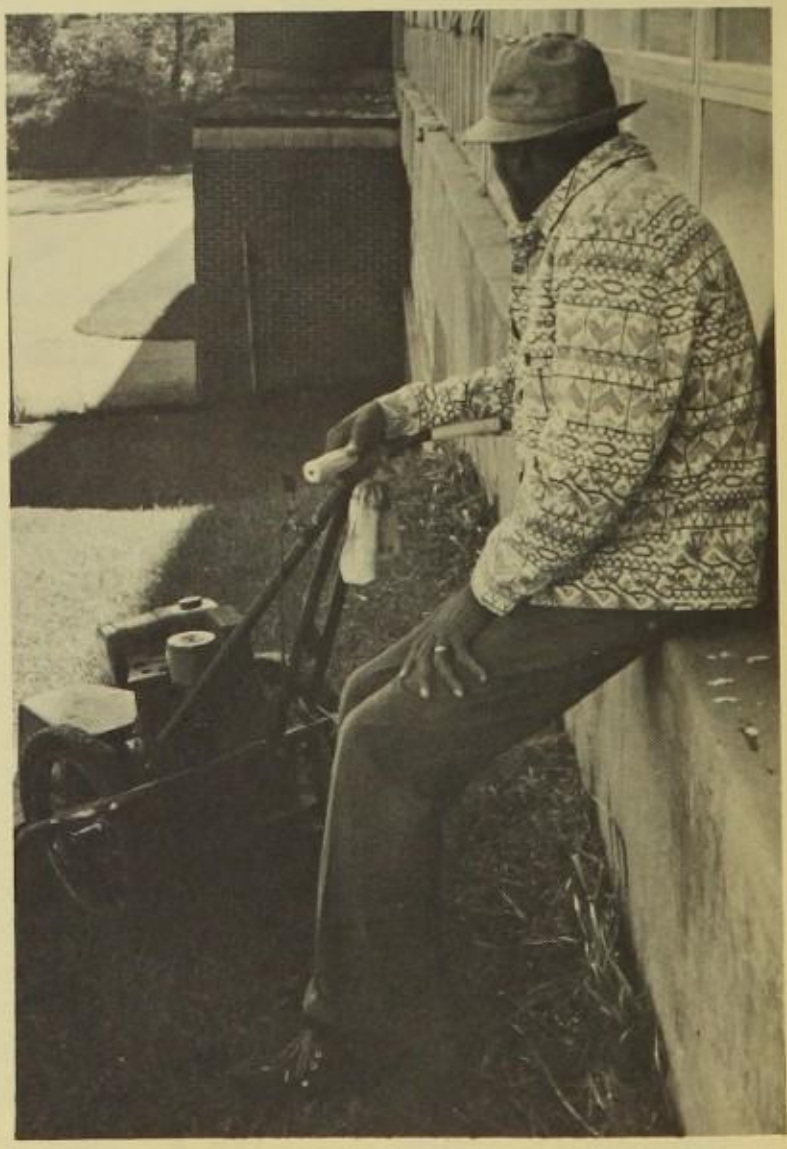
to Staff of Seven

Cleaning up after more than 500 people every day, in addition to keeping after general maintenance problems, has got to be considered a big job, especially when the work load is shared by only seven people. They are Henry Askew, head custodian, assisted by George Grier, Joseph Harris, Joseph Jackson, Steve Jackson, Thelma Merriweather, and Odessa Perry.

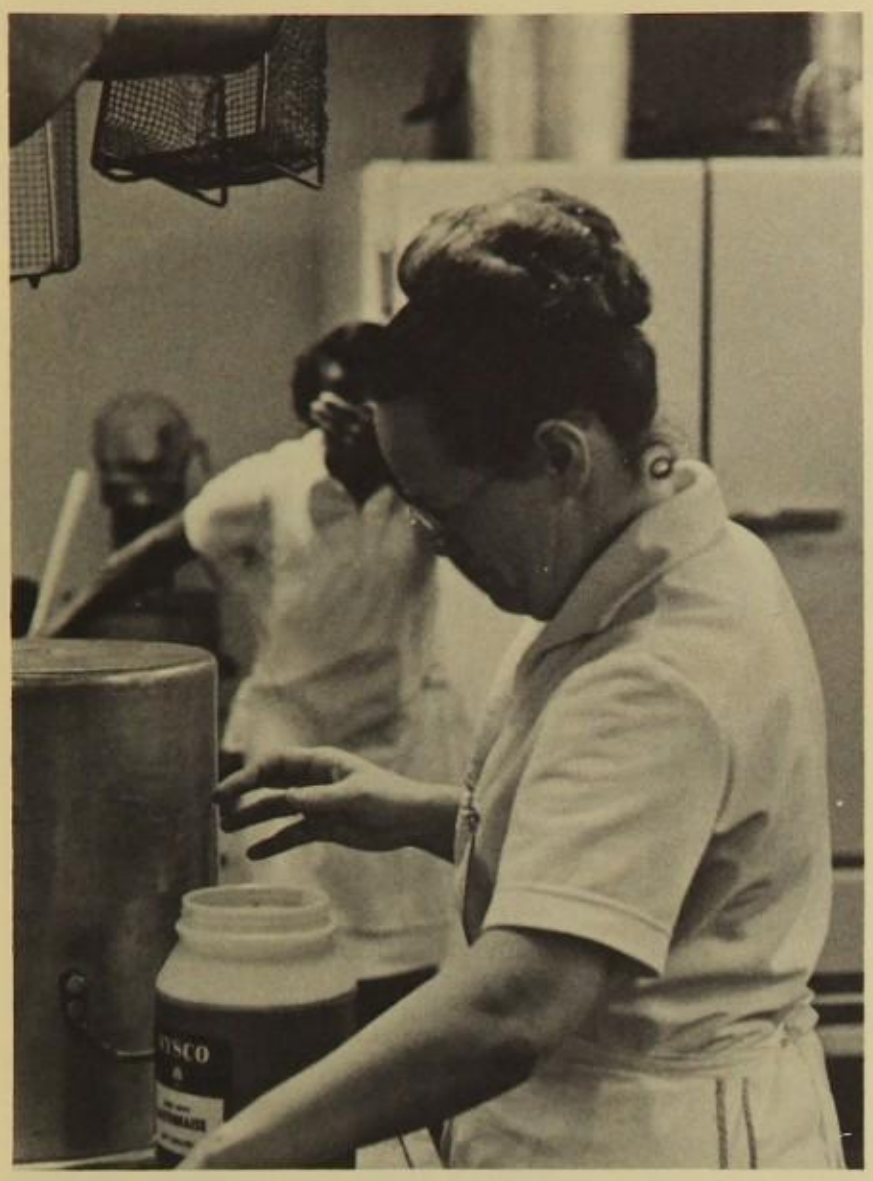


Odessa Perry enjoys a chance to get outside.

Thelma Merriweather cleans up the lunch room.



Henry Askew sizes up the rest of his grass cutting job.



Peggy Ellis tackles a man-size jar of mayonnaise.

Cafeteria Deserves High Rating

The cafeteria this year is under management of Mrs. Louise Brock, who took over the job in October. Her staff of 5 women include: Peggy Ellis, Josephine Gay, Charlie Greer, Fannie Jacobs, and Alene Turner. The women can claim one of the most successful food programs in the Fulton County System. Nearly 360 students and 33 adults, or 76 percent of the school population has lunch in the cafeteria daily.

This little girl a senior?

Senior Foresight

What would you do today if the world were to end tomorrow? Mrs. Parramore's homework--Ricky Robinson. I'd make as many people as happy as I could--Barbara Burdette. I refuse to answer on the grounds that it may incriminate me--Mike Glozier. Do the things I never dreamed of trying before--Anonymous. I'd go to church and be baptized--Ronnie Mask. Pray--Lesa Burnett. I'd do things I've always wanted to do but couldn't--Anonymous. I'd get drunk--Anonymous.

What do you look for in a boyfriend or girlfriend? To be my friend, love--Melanie Bishop. Maturity and love--Steve Meyer. Nice, looks good--Mitchell Berggren. Quiet, shy, a little mysterious, fantastically warm personality, and pleasant looks--Mike Wheeler. Nice personality, decent looks, honest--Laurie Jeffords. Christian, honest, hardworking, intelligent--Lesa Burnett.

What do you want to do after you get out of high school? I want to rest for a year--Vicki Beck. Work and go to college--Mynda Dildy. Go to college--Paul Rintye. Live and discover all the wonderful things that life has to offer--Anonymous.

Seniors Talk About . . .

What is sex? Sex is not something to do instead of going to the movies or playing putt-putt--Anonymous. Sex covers all physical encounters--Anonymous.

What do you think about premarital sex? If a guy and a girl love each other, it's o.k. Otherwise, no. If a guy is man enough to make love to a girl, he should be man enough to take the responsibility--Ricky Robinson. Definitely no. It should be saved for marriage --Cindy Walker. What's premarital sex?--Mike Wheeler. If you love the person and plan to marry, there is no point in premarital sex. I don't think it's right to have sex if you don't love the person--Anonymous. If you want it--Anonymous. It's beautiful as long as you love each other and care for each other--Tami Pope. No. Only in marriage when two people love each other--Cheryl Jones. Ain't nuthin' wrong with it--Anonymous. For some people, I guess it's alright--Anonymous. No--Robin King.

Senior Privileges

What privileges do you think seniors should have? Seniors should be able to leave school early, five or ten minutes at the most--Melanie Bishop. Seniors should have first priority to get into class if the classes are full--Mynda Dildy. I think they should have to go to school for only three periods, if that's all the classes they have--Anonymous. They should be able to leave the campus for lunch--Lorraine Williams. I don't think seniors should have to stay in homeroom--Greg Martin. They shouldn't have to come to school 'till eleven o'clock--Danny Page. There should be a senior lounge that only seniors can go in--Liz Holt. All the privileges that seniors used to have--Ronnie Mask.

Loneliness

Darkness encircles me.
Sleep creeps into my eyes,
And my nightmare comes . . .
Alone, I am running
From a terror unknown,
Searching for someone who cares.
Loneliness
Deepens the fog and increases the cold.
The trees bend toward me and their limbs
Clutch at my hair,
But not in friendship.
My fear hastens my speed,
But now I see a light.
He is looking for me, only me.
The fog lifts and the sun breaks through
As his presence dispels my fright.
Loneliness,
Only present in my dreams,
Because someone cares.

GRAPPLERS

Onto the large mat the two men walked,
One was built. with all muscles showing.
The other was skin and bones, it seemed
They came to the middle, their eyes glaring.
While shaking hands they observed each other.
The bulky one thought it would be cake.
He knew the thin boy would be no bother.
He didn't think about what was at stake.
The lanky man was extremely wise.
Knowing only one of them was to win.
He was ready to go and get his prize.
He knew for what reason his work had been.
In a few seconds the whole match was through,
And the lanky man had known what to do.

Bobby Hudson

A Seashell

She lies on a lonely shore,
Lifeless, but of extreme beauty.
Surviving the monstrous sea,
She is cast upon this beach.
Playing the song of her home,
A song that seems to call her
Back to her rich, mysterious world,
Where she was once a home herself.
So here she lies waiting, calling and longing for the arms of her Father to carry her home.

Jerry Anderson

Raindrops

Raindrops on a window pane,
Tiny mirrors in a world of vision.
They reflect the things they see
In frames of different shapes and sizes.

Many will join and become one
As gravity pulls them toward the sill
To collect as a puddle.
But others will evaporate,
Leaving only a memory
Or a streak through dust.

Robin Melton

Love is more than sentiment,
more than kindness,
more than softness,
more than compassion.
Love is a moving force
unhindered, sometimes bringing pain and tears,
yet giving true meaning
to life.
Love can be ignored . . .
but never conquered.

Memories

Dolls of long ago have all been placed upon the shelf,
Mirrors in my mind reflect the changes
in myself.
Animals that once were real, sit lifeless
on the chairs,
No more cuddles, no more hugs, just clear and empty stares.
Memories are all that's left of shovelsandbox days.
Of party dresses, mud pie messes, other childish ways.
Broken crayons, bits and pieces, used by first-grade artists,
Remembering to stay within the lines was always hardest.
Boys were creeps who pulled your hair and called you nasty names,
But now they've changed and all insist on playing different games.
No more ribbons tied in bows, no more
frilly pinafores,
Things have changed and nothing seems
the way it was before.
I know that deep inside of me a little girl remains,
And how I wish there was a way to bring her back again!

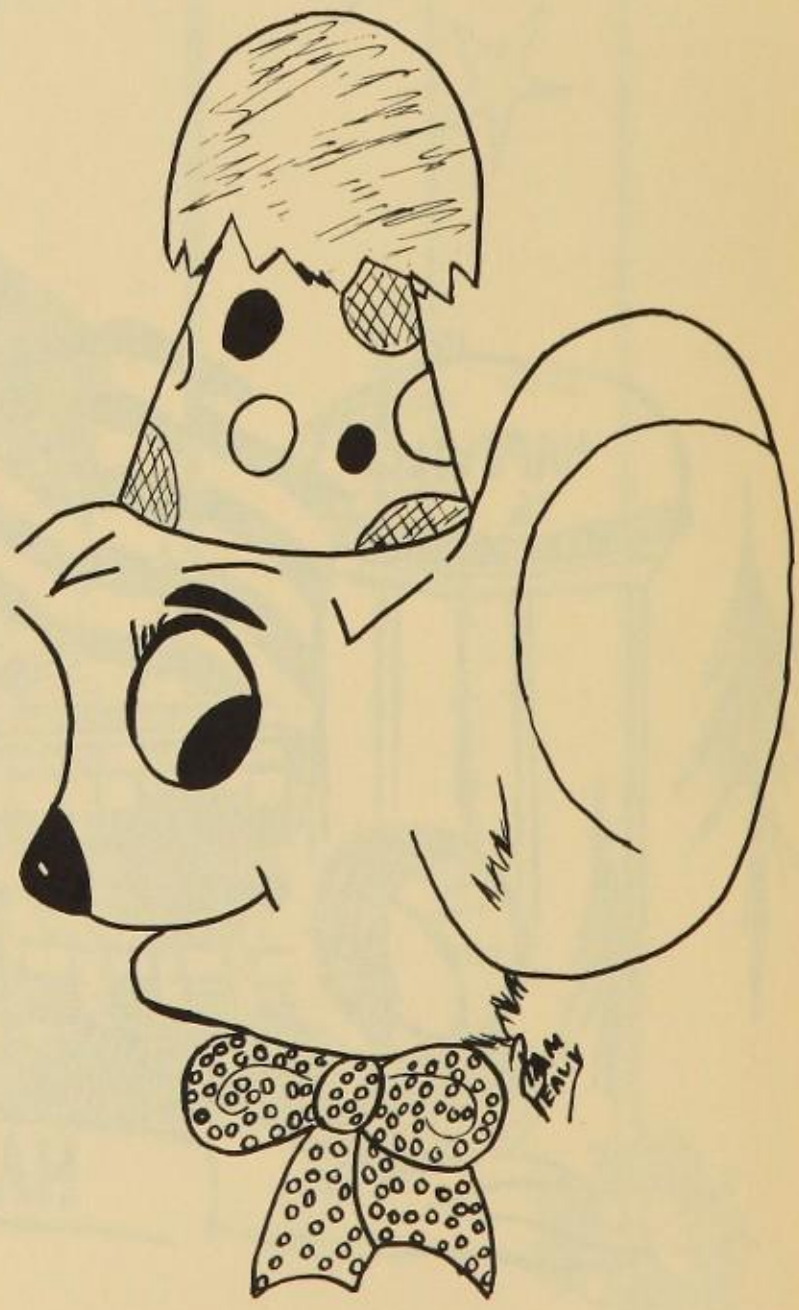
Elaine Brandenburg



Time Is All We Have

My friend, I know you as well as I know myself.
I've seen you walk tall, smiling carelessly
And cry of a hurt from deep inside your heart.
The past years have changed you in many ways
Like the changes in the earth's worn face.

Lonely you sit, with no one to talk to,
But one day you'll find that we're all alone.
Your sacrifices are many with few in return,
And putting down others for what you despise in Yourself has made you no one in a faceless crowd.

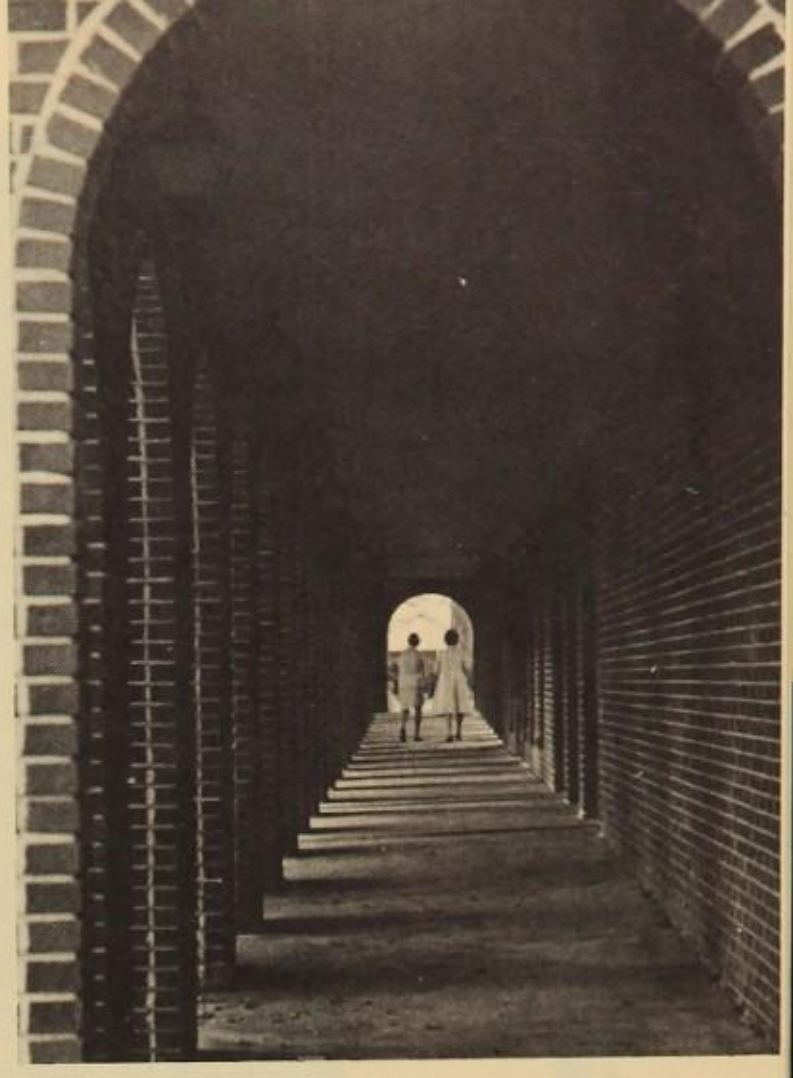
Many things held close to you were forgotten,
And love, love has shown the good and bad in you
While hatred, you know, only solves nothing.
Just look to the future, solutions are there,
For the years bring changes and time is all we have.

Chris Milewski



A Special Friend

Hi there, what's your hurry?
Can we sit and talk awhile?
There is no need to worry,
All I want is just your smile!

We both need someone to talk to,
Someone to understand,
Someone to know us through and through,
To walk with hand in hand.

I learn a lot more about you,
Each and every day.
I find it's so easy to like you,
When you smile your special way!

I don't think I'll ever forget you,
You've been so close to me,
You were always honest, open, and true,
With a desire to be so free!

Jenny Foxworthy

A friend is someone in which to confide.
A friend is someone with care to provide.
A friend is someone in which to take pride.
And a friend is someone to stand beside.
Are you a friend?
You decide.

Anonymous

Tomorrow

Time is running out,
For soon you will be gone.
To start a new life
And to take it on your own.
This is what you've strived for,
For so very long.
You thought all those years
There would never come an end
And when it did, you felt it was Just time
To learn to begin.
Where do you go from here?
Do you really know?
What do you want to do?
Where do you want to go?
There is a world out there
Waiting for you to see,
You are the one who turns it all,
You are the one with the key.
Something good is going to happen,
Just you wait and see!

Into the Sun

The JUPITER glided through space, on its way to Saturn. It was sent by the National Aeronautics Space Administration. One of its most fascinating parts was the Control Guidance System, which could automatically guide the ship to any location in the Solar System.

Brian Adrien, Phill Jay, and Jerry Gunter were the crew. The men were sleeping downstairs when an alarm began to ring. Jerry quietly got up and trotted to the control room. Something was disturbing the Guidance System. Shutting off the alarm, Jerry pulled out a small transmitter hidden in his pocket.

"This is Jerry Gunter, calling headquarters."

"Headquarters. Proceed."

"The bomb is driving the Guidance System wild; we have to do something else."

"O.K. Set the ship for the sun, ditch the bomb, and leave in the Shuttle Craft."

"Affirmative."

Following orders, Jerry took the small bomb, set the ship for the sun, and locked the Guidance System.

Downstairs Brian woke up and headed for the galley, followed by Phill.

"Why don't you check the controls and find Jerry," Brian said.

"Right," Phill smiled. "But you gotta get me something to eat."

Upstairs, Phill noticed that the ship was off course. He decided to check the Guidance System. It was locked for the sun! Phill ran to the intercom.

"Brian, come in. Believe it or not, we're on our way to the sun, and Jerry's gone!"

Brian ran upstairs, filled with anger. "It sure is hard to believe Gunter would do what he's done," Phill said.

"Yeah, but he did." Brian walked over to the radio.

"This is the JUPITER, calling NASA. Come in."

"NASA Control, we read."

"Jerry Gunter has sabotaged us and left."

"Are you sure?"

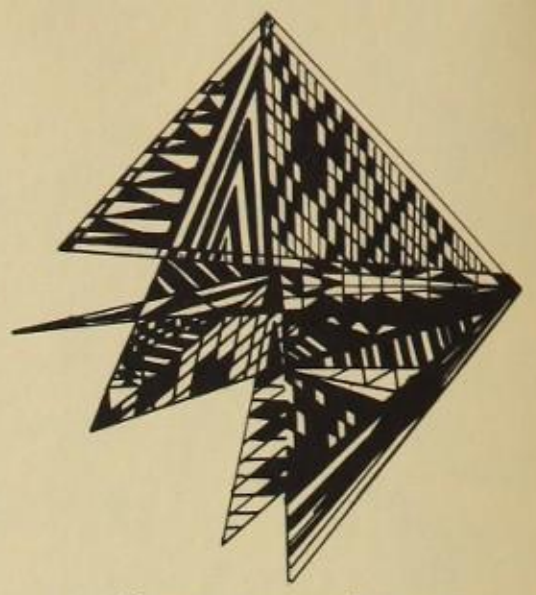
"Yes, I am."

"O.K. We'll have another ship coming as soon as possible."

"Roger, over and out."

There was nothing the men could do except wait. They spent their time playing a checker game that had been stored on the ship. Two days passed, and the ship hadn't been harmed, though the temperature was rising. Phill got up in the middle of a game to get water. The fountain wouldn't work. Discovering that a wire had fallen out of place, he grabbed it to put it back in place. His body jolted across the room. Brian, hearing the noise, ran into find Phill lying against the wall not far from the torn-down water system. He ra upstairs to the radio.

"This is Brian--I mean the JUPITER, come in, NASA! Phill has been shocked. How long will it take the rescue ship to get here?"



"About seven hours." Brian dropped the microphone and ran back downstairs.

Phill was silent, unconscious. His pulse was slow. There was nothing Brian could do but wait.

Suddenly, finally, through the port hole, he spotted something. He grabbed the radio. "This is the Jupiter calling rescue ship. Come in! Is that you guys out there?"

"Must be. We've got you in view."

Several minutes later the rescue ship arrived. It called over the radio.

"Jupiter, calling Jupiter."

"We read," Brian replied.

"Is Phill Jay unconscious?"

"Yes, but I can manage him."

A short while later Brian and Phill were waiting to go.

Brian took Phill over his shoulder, opened the hatch, and floated into the rescue ship. After getting into the other ship, Brian blacked out. A doctor was checking him when he awoke.

"Where's Phill?"

"He-uh, he died a few minutes ago."

Tears formed in Brian's eyes.

"Is Gunter locked up in prison?"

"Yes. He was captured not far from the JUPITER."

"So help me God if he gets out, I'll . . ."

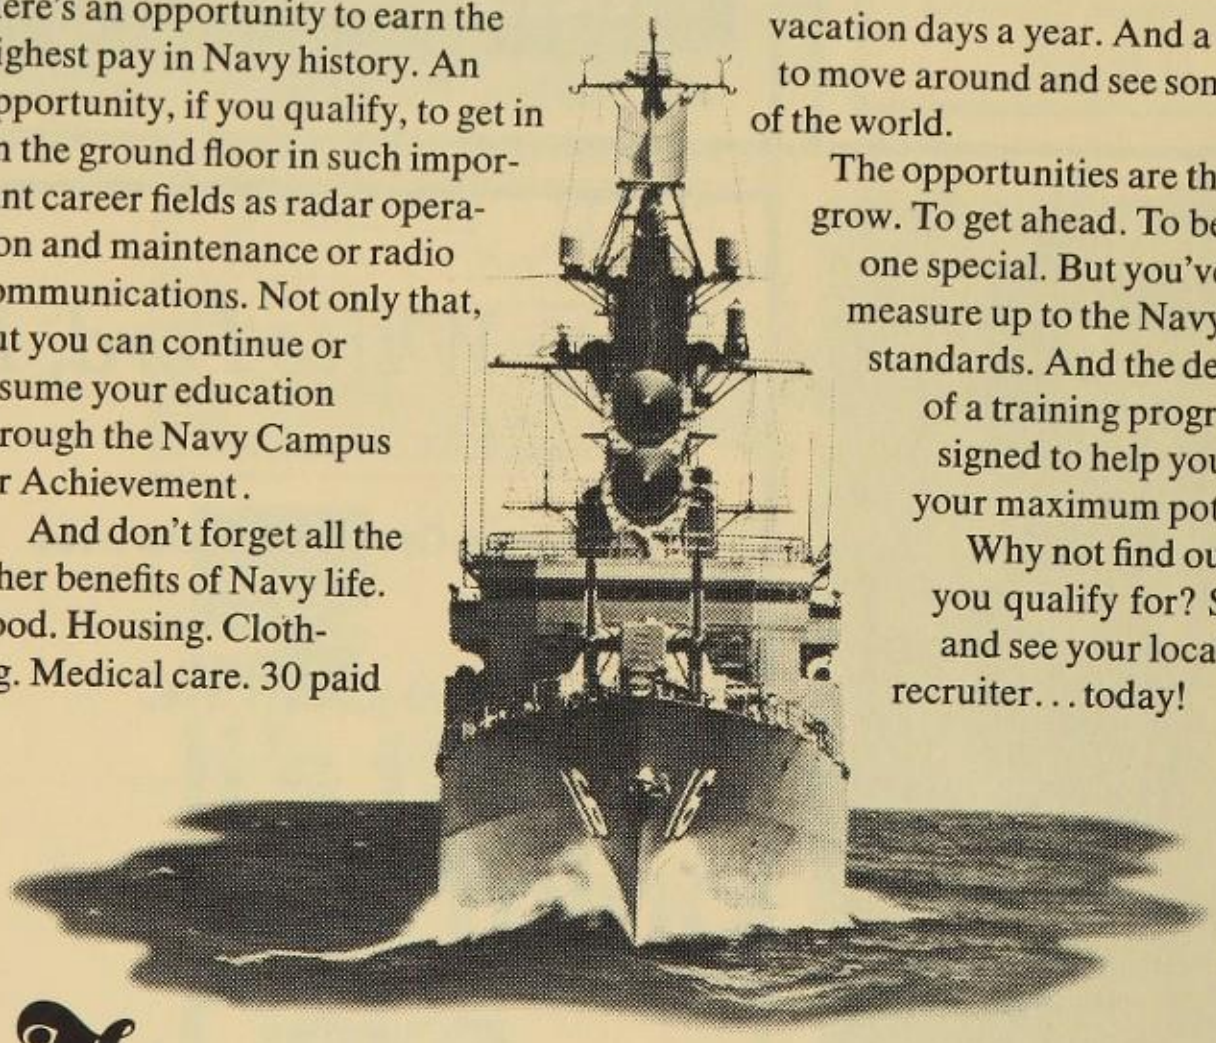
Now...earn more while you learn more.

Navy pay is at an all-time high. $402 a month after just 4 months.

Here's an opportunity to earn the highest pay in Navy history. An opportunity, if you qualify, to get in on the ground floor in such important career fields as radar operation and maintenance or radio communications. Not only that, but you can continue or resume your education through the Navy Campus for Achievement.

And don't forget all the other benefits of Navy life. Food. Housing. Clothing. Medical care. 30 paid vacation days a year. And a chance to move around and see something of the world.



The opportunities are there. To grow. To get ahead. To be someone special. But you've got to measure up to the Navy's high standards. And the demands of a training program designed to help you reach your maximum potential.

Why not find out what you qualify for? Stop in and see your local Navy recruiter... today!
